Soviets Ask A-Test Ban, Summit Talks

Letter Sent To President By Bulganin

Proposals Viewed
As Bid To Undercut
NATO Conference

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10 (AP)—Soviet Premier Bulganin proposed in a 3,000-word letter to President Eisenhower today a ban on atomic bomb tests and a "conference of leaders" to outlaw war.

American officials studying the 15-page document promptly labeled it a propaganda gambit seeking to undercut next week's Atlantic Pact summit meeting at Paris.

Soviet Ambassador Georgi Zarubin handed the letter to Deputy Undersecretary Robert Murphy in an eight-minute call at the State Department.

The department withheld comment pending its translation and submission to President Eisenhower, who is expected to see it tomorrow. Zarubin called the message "very important" and said it dealt with NATO, disarmament and other matters.

Usual Soviet Pitch

Zarubin said Moscow would make it public "not today, not tomorrow, but after." He gave no indication whether he meant Friday or later.

It was learned, however, that Bulganin repeated the oft-voiced Soviet calls for halting A-bomb tests and an East-West meeting to denounce war as an instrument of foreign policy.

Radio Moscow today also carried a report of a message from Bulganin to Prime Minister Nehru of India saying that Russia would stop nuclear weapons tests after Jan. 1 if the United States and Britain would promise to do likewise.

Bulganin in his letter to Eisenhower was reported also to have endorsed a proposal by Communist Poland to prohibit stockpiling and production of nuclear bombs in Poland and East and West Germany.

Bulganin was said to have made a veiled reference to "unexpected results" which might follow any arming of West Germany with nuclear weapons by NATO.

Early Rejection Forecast

Bulganin's proposals contained nothing new, so far as U.S. officials could tell. They appeared headed for rejection as soon as the American government touches base with the 14 other NATO nations. Rejection might come before the Monday NATO meeting in an effort to clear the air in advance of actions taken there by the Allies.

U.N. Hungary Mission Fails

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Dec. 10 (AP)—Prince Wan Waihayakon of Thailand reported today that Moscow and Budapest had rebuffed all his efforts to end repression in Hungary.

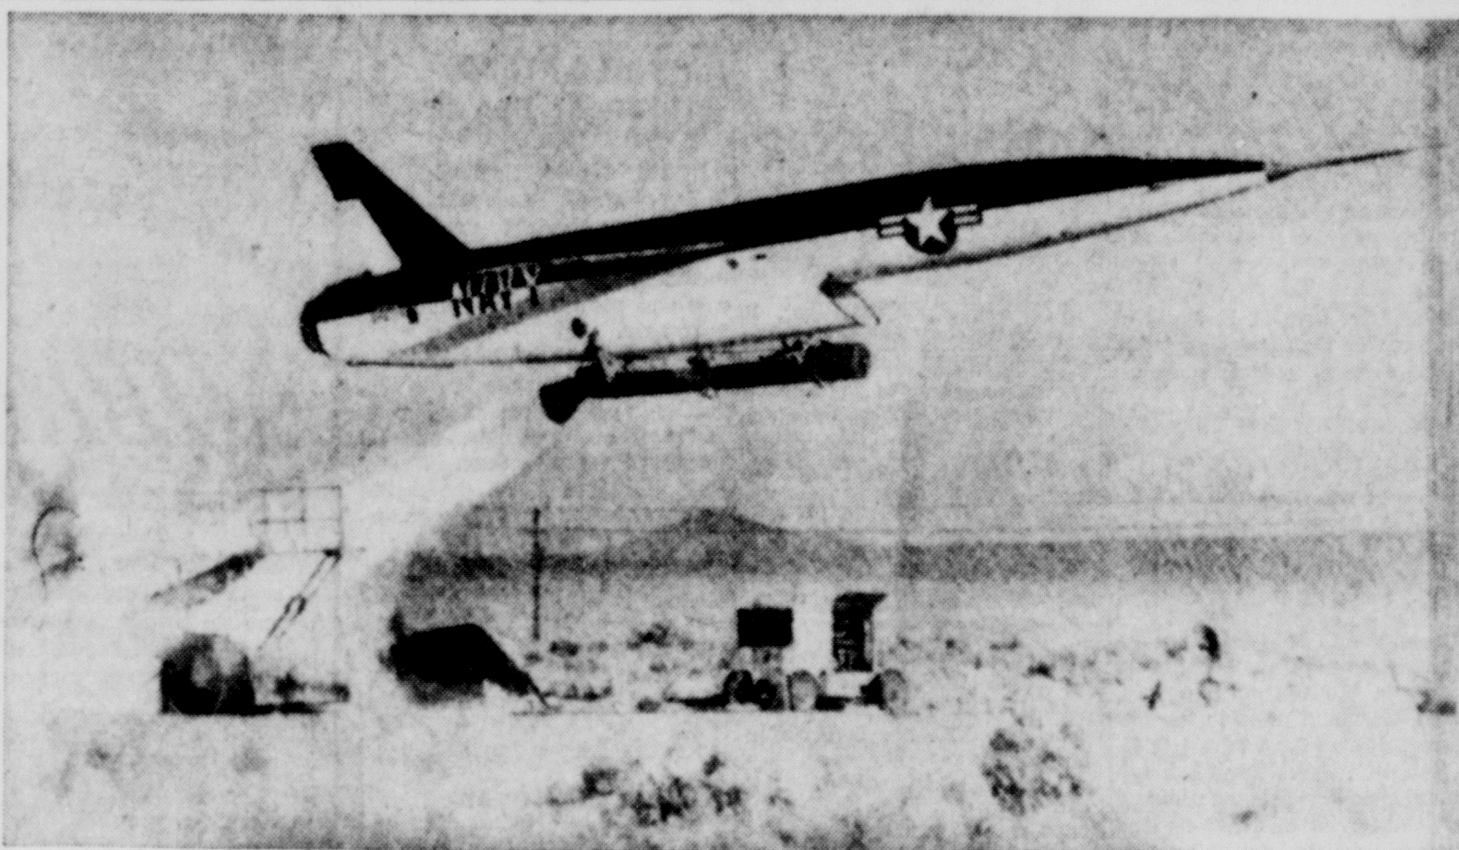

The U.N.'s special emissary on Hungary said, however, he could not believe "that the Hungarian and Soviet governments will remain insensible to the voice of world opinion and the conscience of mankind."

Prince Wan was assigned to the mission three months ago after a U.N. investigating committee had concluded that the Hungarian revolt last fall was a spontaneous national uprising put down brutally by Soviet force.

In a report to the General Assembly, Prince Wan said he got flat refusals on all his attempts to achieve humanitarian treatment in Hungary, the return of Hungarians deported to Russia, withdrawal of Soviet troops, and free elections.

Navy Fires Regulus II Missile

The Navy's Regulus II, a winged missile designed for launching from shipboard, leaps from its launching platform in a test witnessed by newsmen at Edwards Air Force Base, Calif., yesterday. The 57-foot missile's under-belly rocket booster belches flame as it adds 115,000 pounds of extra thrust for the takeoff. The missile has a range of 1,000 miles in this test. It flies at 1,200 m.p.h. and reaches altitudes of 50,000 feet. (AP Photofax)

Planes Remove Dutch Refugees From Indonesia

SINGAPORE, Dec. 10 (AP)—The first plane loads of Dutch evicted from Indonesia arrived tonight.

Some women were carrying children along with coats and bundles. Older children trudged with school books, toys and satchels.

An old Dutch farmer said he left Indonesia after 15 years because conditions in east Java were out of control and "laborers are taking the upper hand everywhere."

The first 71 refugees were the advance guard of what may swell into a flood of thousands of Dutch nationals Indonesia is threatening to expel because the Netherlands refuses to yield West New Guinea. Holland granted independence to other islands in the area in 1949.

The Indonesians opened a cold war when the United Nations refused to recommend further negotiations. Anti-Dutch strikes and boycotts were followed by Communist-led worker seizures of big Dutch banks, trading and shipping concerns. Now gradually expanding government take-overs threaten extinction of the 1½ billion dollar Dutch investment in the islands.

The red flags of trade unions were raised today over four more Dutch businesses in Jakarta, including the Philips radio factory and an insurance company.

The government has put 500 rubber, tea and other plantations, richest part of the Dutch economic empire, under a special board to protect them from "irresponsible elements." Indonesian officials said this was not nationalization.

Of the 200,000 Dutch once in Indonesia, about 46,000 remain. Indonesian pronouncements have indicated nearly all except skilled technicians will be asked to leave.

Many of the Dutch nationals are Indonesian-born Eurasians.

Most refugees refused to discuss conditions in Indonesia or their personal experiences. A spokesman said the price of rice, staple food in Indonesia, was rising rapidly and might cause more trouble in the country. Most passengers took a plane for London.

Mrs. Nixon Gets Award As Nation's 'Ideal Wife'

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10 (AP)—Mrs. Richard M. Nixon received a silver bowl today as "The Nation's Ideal Wife."

"I must admit I don't deserve it," was Pat Nixon's smiling reaction at the presentation by the Homemakers Forum at the office of her husband, the vice president.

But Howard S. Cohoon of Jackson, Miss., founder of the Forum, said his group of American housewives thought otherwise. The bowl inscription named Mrs. Nixon for her outstanding qualities as wife, mother, hostess.

Cohoon and Mrs. Rita Beam of Dayton, Ohio, the Forum's "Homemaker of the Year," made the presentation. Mrs. Beam won her honor by a suggestion on how to decorate a child's birthday cake.

Cohoon said 500,000 women answered a questionnaire asking who they felt was an ideal wife

Alleged Teamsters "Goon" Takes Fifth

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10 (AP)—William A. Smith, named by a string of witnesses as a strong-arm man for the Teamsters Union in Tennessee, took shelter behind the Fifth Amendment at a Senate inquiry today.

Among nearly 100 questions he refused to answer was this one put by Sen. McClellan (D-Ark): "Are you a professional goon?" "I claim my constitutional right not to be forced to be a witness against myself," Smith said repeatedly.

McClellan is chairman of a special Senate committee investigating what he has described as a five-year "reign of terror" by the Teamsters Union in Tennessee and other states.

As Smith got up from the witness chair, McClellan told him the record of violence uncovered by the committee in four days of public hearings "reflects upon decent unionism—and that's what you have done here today."

The senator recommended to three Knoxville, Tenn., police officers present at the hearing that they take Smith before a grand jury.

"If you have a prosecutor . . . you'll have a case," he told them. Robert F. Kennedy, committee counsel, said evidence produced so far showed that Smith had participated in two shootings, four or five beatings, "mostly from behind"; at least four dynamite, eight truck "syrupings" and numerous tire slashings and window breakings.

Smith, known to intimates as "Hard-hearing Smitty," is a florid-faced, rugged man who wears glasses and a hearing aid. He identifies himself as assistant business agent of Teamsters Local 327 in Nashville but refused to say who gave him his union job in January 1953.

McClellan took the Knoxville police officers to task for their record in cases of labor violence.

"You've got a bad situation that ought to be cleaned up," he said. "We're trying to help you get the information you say you can't get. I hope by the time these hearings are through you will try to get some of these things cleaned up."

Police Chief Joseph M. Kimsey of Knoxville and two of his aides, Capt. Elmer Dyke and Lt. W. D. Swanner, appeared before the committee as volunteer witnesses to defend their law enforcement record.

Algeria Compromise Approved By U.N.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Dec. 10 (AP)—The United Nations General Assembly approved unanimously today a compromise resolution on Algeria which takes note of the Tunisian-Moroccan offer to mediate the three-year-old rebellion.

The resolution calls for new informal talks in an effort to reach agreement between the French and independence-seeking Arab nationalists.

Arab-Asian endorsement of the resolution was achieved in behind-the-scenes negotiations and the compromise was speeded through the Assembly without debate.

Russia To Share Data

PARIS, Dec. 10 (AP)—Soviet scientists are correlating information received from their two Sputniks and will distribute it to the world before the end of the month, a top Russian scientist said today.

Administration Critics Target Of Dulles Fire

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10 (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles fired back today at Democratic critics who contend the administration lacks a "sense of urgency" in moving to meet Russia's challenge.

At a news conference, he cited the decision to hold an unprecedented summit meeting of 15 Atlantic Pact nations in Paris next week as evidence that the administration does have "a certain sense of urgency." Dulles spoke a few hours before President Eisenhower decided with the full approval of his doctors, to lead the U.S. delegation to Paris.

This heads-of-government meeting, Dulles predicted, would agree on "special measures" to strengthen military security and arrange more political and economic cooperation among members.

"I don't know exactly what that phrase 'sense of urgency' means," he said, "I suppose you have to be urgent about something to have it significant and just to talk about urgency in the abstract is not always helpful."

Dulles singled out no Democratic foe by name in his rejoinder. Senate Majority Leader Johnson and House Speaker Rayburn both called for more urgency in administration planning after a White House briefing last Tuesday on Atlantic Pact plans.

"I don't think it would be appropriate for me here to make a preshowing, so to speak, of what we intend to propose at the NATO meeting," Dulles said.

He credited Adlai Stevenson, who is known to believe administration planning lacks imagination, with offering "valuable and useful suggestions" during his brief stay as State Department consultant.

However, Dulles coldly snubbed public suggestions made by ex-Wing at Bergstrom AFB, Tex., diplomat George Kennan, one of his sharpest critics. He closed the door to Kennan's return to the State Department, saying the administration always could get Kennan's views.

Dulles vigorously disputed a reporter's suggestion that the Atlantic Pact conference was a sign of a "crisis of confidence" in American leadership of the alliance.

Worst Subway Strike Turns New York Into One Vast, Hopeless Traffic Jam

NEW YORK, Dec. 10 (AP)—A growing subway strike, worst in the city's history, converted New York today into a vast, honking, hopeless traffic jam. Two-thirds of the city's rapid transit service was knocked out.

City buses, last barrier against a complete breakdown of municipal transportation in the city, became a new target of strikers during the day. Seven terminals were picketed, but the pickets withdrew at dusk.

In Brooklyn, about 300 bus maintenance men refused to work during the day. The buses they service will have exhausted their fuel by tomorrow. However, a late shift of maintenance men reported for work.

One bright spot in the crisis was the absence of the evening rush hour mob scenes that marked the strike's first day. Crowds at Penn-

Huge Redstone "Test Vehicle" Fired By Army

Pentagon Says
Trial Success

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla., Dec. 10 (AP)—The Army tonight launched a modified Redstone "test vehicle"—an experimental model of the type with which it plans to put a satellite into orbit around the earth.

The fiery rocket shot far up into space and was visible from Florida's coast for more than four minutes.

A Defense Department announcement in Washington said the launching was successful.

The department added that the vehicle was a part of the Army's Jupiter program.

Three-Stage Rocket

The vehicle with which the Army plans to launch a satellite is called the Jupiter-C. It is a Redstone 200-mile range missile with additional rocket stages for reaching orbital altitude and speed.

The rocket launched here at 7:37 p.m. apparently consisted of three stages. There was no indication, however, that it was a Jupiter-C.

Tonight's missile took off with a flash and roar which could be seen and heard for many miles.

Aerial Fireworks

As the missile rose to considerable height, it trailed two or three red sparks—possibly part of the rocket equipment being discarded. These sparks streaked oceanward about a second apart.

Then as the missile dimmed in extreme altitude, there was a bright flash, then another, and then others—six in all, perhaps half a second apart. It looked for all the world like some huge fireworks explosions.

On and up the missile went, until the observer could not be sure he was watching it or a reddish star. Then there was another series of flashes—seven this time. Thereafter, one could not be sure whether he was still watching the missile's flight.

Air Speed Mark Claim Thwarted

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif., Dec. 10 (AP)—An Air Force fighter-bomber streaked at nearly 1,200 m.p.h. over a measured course today but was thwarted by failure of a timing camera from claiming the official world speed record.

The record is 1,132.136 m.p.h. set by a British Fairey delta research plane.

Maj. Adrian E. Drew made two flashing runs over a 10.1-mile Mojave Desert course this morning, then waited until late this afternoon for timing computations to be completed—only to learn of the malfunction.

Maj. Drew, squadron commander of the 27th Fighter-Bomber Wing at Bergstrom AFB, Tex., was flying an F101 Voodoo jet manufactured by McDonnell Aircraft Co. of St. Louis.

His time was unofficially reported at more than 1,190 m.p.h. Under rules for record runs, Drew has six more days in which to try for the record. The Air Force said another try will be made Thursday or Friday, weather permitting.

GETS COURT ORDER — Frank Zelano, executive secretary of the striking Motorists' Benevolent Association, is shown after he was served with a court order requiring him to show cause why he should not be held in contempt of court. Zelano was served with an order as the runaway New York subway strike mushroomed. Four other officials of the union already have been jailed for violating a no-strike injunction. (AP Photofax)

McElroy Sees British Rocket Bases Accord

BERLIN, Dec. 10 (AP)—Defense Secretary Neil McElroy predicted tonight a U.S.-British agreement to establish medium-range rocket bases in Britain will be signed shortly.

Arriving here from talks with British leaders, McElroy told reporters: "We see nothing that should interfere with the successful conclusion of the agreement."

McElroy did not go into detail but reports in London said there will be at least four rocket bases. Three will be under British control and one under the United States.

McElroy said the question of planting rocket bases in other member nations of the Western alliance will be discussed at next week's NATO summit meeting in Paris.

Informed sources said the French showed irritation at the British-U.S. agreement at a meeting of the NATO Permanent Council, called in Paris to set up an agenda for the summit meeting.

The sources said the French delegate, Etienne de Crouy-Chanel, demanded there be protracted discussion of atomic balance among NATO members.

They said he underscored French fears that Britain and the United States were sidetracking France in nuclear matters. They reported this feeling was increased by growing U.S.-British unity as reflected by the missile base agreement.

Informants said the French charged Britain and the United States were trying to boss the alliance. As a result of the French attitude, work on the agenda bogged down, the informants added.

Medics Agree His Condition Permits Trip

President Leaves
Friday For NATO
Summit Conference

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10 (AP)—Six doctors agreed today that President Eisenhower's "recovery to date is such that it permits him to attend the Paris meeting" of the NATO chiefs of state.

Accordingly, the White House said Eisenhower will take off Friday afternoon for the flight to Paris.

Because of the mild stroke Eisenhower suffered Nov. 25, it had been indefinite whether he would attend the Dec. 16-18 meeting of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The medical report ended the uncertainty.

"The President's general condition was excellent," it said. The consultants unanimously agreed the President's recovery to date is such that it permits him to attend the Paris meeting.

No Limitations On Activities

James C. Hagerty, the presidential press secretary, said Eisenhower plans to arrive at Paris around mid-afternoon Saturday, and deliver the opening speech for the American delegation at the first formal meeting Monday. He will head back to Washington Thursday afternoon Dec. 19.

He said the doctors have imposed no limitation on Eisenhower's speaking or other activities, and that the President will attend the same official or social gatherings he would have attended had he not been ill.

As for the stroke-caused speech impairment, Hagerty and the doctors said it has improved to the point that only an expert could tell that any trouble remained.

Hagerty also said Eisenhower will be accompanied by his personal physician, Maj. Gen. Howard M. Snyder, and by his son, Army Maj. John S. Eisenhower, who will go along as the President's personal aide.

Six Man Medical Team

All six of the medical men first visited Eisenhower in the presidential living quarters for a time, Hagerty said. Then the three physicians—Heaton, Mattingly and Snyder—went downstairs and waited for an hour while the three brain specialists made their examination.

At its completion, the neurologists went downstairs and joined the physicians in a White House office and completed their consultations. Then Hagerty was called in to assist in the drafting of the statement all six approved.

A newsmen inquired whether the doctors found that the attack had left Eisenhower with a limp. "No," Hagerty replied, and then added that such a supposition was disposed of by the doctors' finding that the President's general condition was excellent.

Legislator Sees Sputnik Threat

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10 (AP)—Rep. Patterson (R-Conn.) today pictured the Russians as working on a new earth satellite that could jam U.S. radar networks and intercept TV and radio programs with Soviet propaganda. He quoted "the most reliable and authoritative sources."

Patterson said the situation calls for a superaccelerated crash program in rocket and atomic weaponry.

Patterson, a member of the House Armed Services Committee and the Senate House Atomic Energy Committee, made public here a speech prepared for delivery tonight before the American Legion post at Middletown, Conn.

He said in his text the Russians are building a Sputnik V that they aim to place in an orbit 22,000 miles above the earth.

"Sputnik V will have the potential capability of jamming our early warning radar system, jamming radio and TV communications and broadcasting its own propaganda on any TV channel anywhere in the world according to my informational source," he said.

Still other Russian satellites are being developed to travel at lower altitudes and carry bombs, he said.

Scrapping Of 40-Hour Work Week Urged By Sen. Johnson

Organized Labor Leaders Oppose Emergency Move

WAXAHACHIE, Tex., Dec. 10 (AP)—Senate Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.) said today that the 40-hour work week should be scrapped. He added "this may seem strange in a country which has intercontinental ballistic missiles, never really mobilized except in the shooting broke out." His suggestion drew quick opposition from leaders of organized labor. He did not state whether he believed workers should receive time and a half pay, straight time or no additional pay for the Sputnik and missile field, Johnson told a civic luncheon meeting "before this emergency." Johnson heads the Senate Preparedness Committee and recently held hearings on the missile and satellite program. Presumably he is in position to have information on what this country has learned about the Russian advances.

In Atlantic City, where the AFL-CIO convention is in session, President David McDonald of the Steelworkers Union said he didn't think such action necessary. Walter Reuther, head of the Auto Workers, said he would "have plenty to say against" the suggestion in a speech he is to make at the convention tomorrow. Al G. Hayes, president of the Machinists Union, said industry had better find work for "unemployed aircraft and guided missile workers laid off on account of defense cutbacks during the last five months."

McDonald suggested the government needed to design a program for "proper utilization of existing scientific brain power" and added that "scrapping the 40-hour work week could not bring that about."

"We in the Steelworkers for example have hundreds of thousands of our members working less than 40 hours a week right now," he said. "They'd like to be in a position of manufacturing steel for these projects by returning to at least the 40-hour week."

Potomac Case Argued Before Supreme Court

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10 (AP)—Questions of good faith, state sovereignty and property rights came up today in arguments before the Supreme Court in the Virginia-Maryland Potomac River dispute.

Virginia argued that the Supreme Court has not only the authority but the duty to consider its plea to sue Maryland, and that the court has jurisdiction before actual damages are proved.

Maryland contended Virginia is seeking to sue on behalf of a "Minute" portion of its citizens rather than as a sovereign state. Maryland has taken the position that the Supreme Court should keep hands off the case.

A decision by the court will determine whether the dispute will come before it for final settlement.

Asst. Atty. Gen. C. F. Hicks of Virginia said that sovereign rights of the state is a major concern of Virginia in the case.

Action of the 1957 Maryland General Assembly in repealing the Potomac River compact and passing a law requiring Maryland licenses for Virginia fishermen is an attempt to take rights from Virginia as a sovereign state, he argued.

In addition, he said, Virginia has substantial property rights involved in the use of the river, which Maryland owns to the low water mark on the Virginia side.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Joseph S. Kaufman of Maryland said the compact provided for its existence as long as there was good faith, but "we think there hasn't been good faith" on the part of Virginia.

Replying to questions, Kaufman said there is chaos in conservation efforts because Virginia by General Assembly action in 1946 sanctioned what he described as illegal oyster dredging.

This led to Virginians dredging Maryland law, and in some cases to shooting as a result of Maryland's efforts to enforce the regulations, he said.

Five West Va. Miners Die In Tunnel Collapse

BECKLEY, W. Va., Dec. 10 (AP)—A thunderous shifting of earth and rock crumbled a section of coal mine tunnel last night and snuffed out the lives of five men.

The men were working about a mile underground in the Raleigh-Wyoming Mining Co.'s No. 2 mine when the accident happened at Glen Rogers, just 15 minutes before the shift was to end at 11 p.m. The last of the bodies was brought out about 7 a.m. today.

The victims were identified as: George Durham, 31, Bolt, W. Va.; John Lomax, 36, Glen Rogers; John Coleman, 52, Beckley; Noel Trump, 51, Glen Rogers; and Wyman Acord, 45, Bolt.

Sputnik Passes Over U.S. Today

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Dec. 10 (AP)—Sputnik II makes two passages across the United States tomorrow morning and a third passage over the West Coast—all of which should be visible in some places, the Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory said today.

The scientists said all the passages will be in the morning, in a northwest to southwest direction.

The first begins about 6:12 a.m. EST, at Houghton, Mich., crosses Ohio and West Virginia, and leaves the United States near New Bern, N.C. about four minutes later.

BALTIMORE, Dec. 10 (AP)—Continued rainy weather is expected to prevent viewing in this area tomorrow of Russia's dead dog-carrying Sputnik II, but it will make three other early-morning passages this week.

The moonwatch station at Goucher College said the satellite is due over tomorrow at 6:17 a.m., moving from northwest to southeast, appearing due west of Baltimore at an altitude of about 70 degrees above the horizon.

On succeeding days it will follow about the same course appearing Thursday at 6:03 a.m., Friday at 5:59 and Saturday at 5:36.

The United States is one of the very few countries where most of the railway mileage is privately owned.

Big Federal Fund For Science Students Planned

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10 (AP)—A federal educational aid plan designed to help meet the challenge of Soviet scientific advances was reported today to be in preparation for President Eisenhower's next budget message.

The plan, estimated to cost 287 million dollars a year, would run four or five years.

Under it, the federal government would help finance pay raises for science and mathematics teachers, assist in financing additional technical equipment and set up 20,000 scholarships a year for gifted students.

The announcement and description of the plan came from G.

Kerry Smith, a nongovernment education official who said it is being prepared by the U. S. Office of Education and supported by Secretary Folsom for inclusion in the President's budget message to Congress.

Smith, executive secretary of the Assn. for Higher Education, is one of several educators meeting in private with officials of the Office of Education.

His association is a department of the National Education Assn.,

the national professional organization of educators. Eisenhower's budget message is to be sent to Congress next month, Folsom, secretary of health, education and welfare, supported a far different educational aid plan without success in this year's session of Congress.

The administration's 1957 plan, costing 2 1/2 billion dollars over four years, would have been heavily weighted with federal grants for school construction.

Air Force Probes Wild Party Reports

NOTTINGHAM, England, Dec. 10 (AP)—U.S. Air Force authorities began investigating newspaper reports today that American airmen and English girls attend wild weekend parties in a graveyard near here.

Police said they were told the men at two U.S. bases go to the parties in cowboy togs, high boots and broad-brimmed hats, and take sleeping bags with them in case they decide to spend the night. The graveyard rendezvous is known as a "ranch."

"There is no factual information of alleged misconduct, and records do not indicate that there is any significant bad behavior in the Nottingham neighborhood," an officer of the U.S. 3rd Air Force said.

Man, 96, Collects On His Own Life Insurance Policy

CAMPBELLSVILLE, Ky., Dec. 10 (AP)—Henry S. Robinson, at the age of 96, has done what few people succeed in doing—he has collected on his own life insurance policy.

Robinson, an attorney, was notified by his insurance company recently he is eligible for $2,232 from the policy he bought nearly 70 years ago.

Robinson said he has paid a total of $1,192 in premiums. He was 96 last June.

Four-State Soil Bank Experiment Planned

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10 (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Benson said today farmers in four states will be given a chance to put their entire farms under a part of the soil bank program, which takes land out of cultivation.

Benson told a news conference farmers in Illinois, Maine, Nebraska and Tennessee will be allowed to make offers to the Agriculture Department to put their entire cropland under the conservation reserve section of the Soil Bank Act.

Benson said the department has a choice of accepting or turning down the offers.

Benson said he hopes the four-state trial will pave the way for extending the program.

Respiratory Infections Hit Half Of Population

NEW YORK, Dec. 10 (AP)—Eighty-two million Americans were confined to bed by upper respiratory infections at some time between July 1 and Nov. 9, Dr. Leroy E. Burney, surgeon general, said today. The infections included pneumonia and influenza.

Burney told the annual meeting of the Institute of Life Insurance that the infections cost the nation 282 million bed-days of disability. The figures were obtained in a new national health survey conducted during that period, Burney said.

He said it had not been feasible to break down the broad groups of respiratory infections into specific diagnoses.

Congressional Witnesses Get Valuable Tips

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10 (AP)—Those who have seen witnesses squiggling before a congressional committee—and wondered what they would do if they ever were in a similar spot—today got some valuable tips.

Know your subject and stick to it. Be courteous. Be brief. Don't try to be funny. Let committee members inject the levity. Never, no matter what, lose your temper. And be sure that you are able to tell the difference between say Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) and former Sen. Eugene Millikin (R-Colo.).

These helpful hints are passed along by Thomas Ward Miles, a public relations man, in an article in "Public Utilities Fortnightly."

Miles naturally was trying to reassure the businessman who comes before Congress, but what he says should help anyone in the congressional witness chair.

In the first place, many persons think only of those who are dragged in, yowling their protests. They get the headlines, but they are a minority. Most witnesses come to help solve a problem, and congressmen are happy to have them.

Furthermore, the witness has his rights, too.

"Don't be afraid," Miles says. "The Constitution, no less, is backing you in your right as a citizen to petition your elected representatives. Relax and you will very likely find the experience stimulating and enjoyable."

All right, unafraid and relaxed you approach the witness chair. What then?

Well, Miles reminds the testifier of this: "A witness is essentially a pitch man and his statement is his spiel."

If he remembers that, he will do things any salesman would do. Try to find out who is on the committee, for instance, and keep their names straight.

Miles tells a story about the witness who kept mixing up Hickenlooper and Millikin. Millikin put up with the error patiently until he had to leave.

Then he said: "My name is Millikin. It has three I's and I use all three."

"Don't under any circumstances underestimate either the intelligence or the knowledge of the senators or representatives. They may play dumb and, if they do, they are 'dumb like foxes.' Rest assured that they could never have reached positions of such eminence and leadership unless they had better than average minds," Miles warns.

Several interesting exceptions came to mind, Mr. Chairman, but let's not debate the point. Let's hurry along to a bit of history, recorded by John Quincy Adams while serving the House after having been president.

"When Reuben Whitney was before a committee of investigation in 1837," Adams wrote, "Baile Peyton of Tennessee, taking offense at one of his answers, threatened him fiercely. When he rose to claim the committee's protection, Mr. Peyton, with due and appropriate profanity shouted, 'You shan't say one word while you are in this room. If you do, I shall put you to death.'"

"The chairman, Henry A. Wise, added, 'This insolence is insufferable.'"

Adams' wry comment: "As both of these gentlemen were armed with deadly weapons, the witness could hardly be blamed for not wanting to testify again."

Production Wanes

BUDAPEST, Dec. 10 (AP)—The newspaper of Hungary's Communist-led Trade Union Federation says there has been a sharp decline in the nation's industrial output. The newspaper said there were 7,000 more workers in September 1957 than last year, but they produced 4 per cent less than a year ago.

Award Of Md. Hospital Milk Contract To Dairy In Pennsylvania Defended

BALTIMORE, Dec. 10 (AP)—A Health Department official defended the award of a Maryland hospital milk contract to a Pennsylvania dairy.

James K. Middleton, assistant chief of the department's Bureau of Management, said the award was in the best interests of the taxpayers and mandatory under state law.

Hagerstown area dairies protested the Nov. 19 award to Hall's Dairy Co. of Waynesboro, Pa.

Raymond Parks of the Hagerstown Dairy Co. said Maryland firms haven't a chance to get a contract in Pennsylvania under the same consideration given in Maryland to out of state dairies.

Parks, one of the unsuccessful bidders, complained that Pennsylvania Milk Commission fixes prices to prevent cutting. Maryland firms are thus hampered in seeking Pennsylvania business, he said, but "we have no such protection in Maryland" against Pennsylvania dairies.

Asked for a comparison, Middleton said the Pennsylvania dairy which won the controversial contract for supplying milk to the new Western Maryland Chronic Disease Hospital submitted unit bids which totaled about $653.17 per month. Hagerstown's comparable figure was $805.25 per month he said.

The health official said the second low bid was $678.50 by Eldridge Dairy of Hagerstown.

Middleton cited a state law requiring officials to "give a preference to products manufactured in Maryland, except when such purchase will operate to the disadvantage of the State."

He said Parks' dairy holds two contracts on other state hospitals and the protests about the award prices to prevent cutting. Maryland firms are thus hampered in seeking Pennsylvania business, he said, but "we have no such protection in Maryland" against Pennsylvania dairies.

Frederick Man Faces Whisky Import Charge

ANNAPOLIS, Dec. 10 (AP)—The chief of Maryland's Alcohol Tax Enforcement Unit today announced the arrest of a Frederick man on a charge of illegally importing whisky into the state.

Robert N. Lucke, unit chief, said the charge of importing non-tax paid liquor has been placed against John P. White, RFD No. 4, Frederick.

Lucke said unit agents arrested White in Frederick yesterday and seized 66 pints of whisky on which the Maryland tax had not been paid. Lucke said White had purchased the liquor, valued at $140, at a state dispensary in Leesburg, Va.

White posted $50 bond before Justice of the Peace Walter J. Davis. A hearing was set for Dec. 20 in Frederick Peoples Court.

Lucke said Maryland law provides that a resident may import only one quart of alcoholic beverage at one time for personal use, and not more than two quarts in any calendar month.

New Baltimore Police Inquiry Will Be Sought

BALTIMORE, Dec. 10 (AP)—Alvin J. T. Zumbun, who initiated a probe of the Baltimore Police Department, said today he felt it had not gone far enough.

Zumbun said he will call a special meeting of the executive committee of the Criminal Justice Commission, of which he is managing director, on Thursday.

He will present in detail then "all the information that we have turned over to the police and the state's attorney."

The probe was based on a report Sept. 20 from the commission, a semi-official agency supported by the Community Chest. The reports of misconduct centered around the Rackets Squad.

Four days after Gov. McKeldin directed State Police to conduct the probe, Sgt. Charles E. Gross committed suicide.

Zumbun said "a very important part" of Thursday's meeting will have to do with the suicide.

"I feel a complete and thorough investigation into this man's death is of paramount importance," Zumbun said. "I know that many persons were mentioned in the several notes left by Gross and that each of those persons should have been interviewed."

"I know positively that at least one of those mentioned was not interviewed—and possibly there were others."

The only indictments returned by the grand jury as a result of the multi-pronged probe charged Inspector Clarence Forrester and Capt. Hyman Goldstein with inducing two sergeants to give false testimony in a numbers trial, malfeasance and maintaining a disorderly house. A civilian, Albert Weinstein, was indicted jointly in the disorderly house count.

The three are to be arraigned next Monday.

Scholarship Exam Survivors Named

CHICAGO, Dec. 12 (AP)—National Merit Scholarship Corp. announced today names of 7,500 semi-finalists in the third annual competition of high school seniors for 800 scholarships worth four million dollars.

The semi-finalists outscored about 300,000 classmates in a college aptitude examination given Oct. 22 in 14,000 high schools. A three-hour college board examination, to be given Jan. 11 across the country, is expected to cut the field to about 7,000 finalists.

Scholarship selections will be made about May 1. Winners choose their own college and course of study. Scholarship values, varying with needs of winners, range from $200 to $2,200 a year or more.

The program was established in 1955 through grants of 20½ million dollars from the Ford Foundation and the Carnegie Corp. of New York. More than 60 business and industrial firms, professional societies, foundations and individuals sponsor the scholarships.

Maryland semi-finalists include: Frederick—Colyn L. Phillips, Frederick High.

Hagerstown—Margaret S. Kaetz, North High.

Robbery Of Clothing Store Investigated

FERNDALE, Md. (AP)—Anne Arundel County police are investigating the robbery of more than $7,000 worth of clothing from a Brooklyn Park store during the weekend.

Police said the robbers apparently forced open the rear door of Hyde's Men and Boys Shop with a crowbar and carted away the loot in a truck.

Ex-Medical Student Paroled In Death Of Man In Fight

BALTIMORE, Dec. 10 (AP)—Gregory M. Delli-Pizzi, former University of Maryland medical student, has been paroled after serving 15 months for the death of a 52-year-old man in a fight over a night club entertainer.

Delli-Pizzi, now 27, was sentenced to four years on Aug. 3, 1956 after being convicted of manslaughter. It was his second trial, the first bringing no agreement by the jury.

Delli-Pizzi was tried as a result of the death of Dr. Richard M. Wick of Allentown, Pa. Wick was a metallurgist in Baltimore on business with the Bethlehem Steel Co.

He testified he followed Wick across the street from the club to the hotel after she told him that the metallurgist had "molested" her in the club.

Delli-Pizzi was a native of Weirton, W. Va. He was among 62 prisoners paroled last month, the Department of Probation announced today.

Mrs. Nina Lee Named To State Democrat Post

BALTIMORE, Dec. 10 (AP)—Mrs. Nina Lee of Montgomery County was announced by Chairman T. Barton Harrington today as vice chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee of Maryland.

The wife of E. Brooke Lee, veteran party figure, was named to succeed Dr. Mildred Otasek, who left the post to become national committeewoman.

Recalling a fight for the national committeewoman's post in the 1956 state convention, Harrington mentioned Mrs. Lee's quest for that office.

"As a delegate to the Democratic National Convention," he said, "I cast my vote for her as national committeewoman, a post which she did not obtain, and shortly thereafter discussed with her the present appointment."

"With her experience, and her ability to work harmoniously with women's groups, she can do much to bring about a spirit of cooperation within the party and help to assure Democratic victory in the coming (1958) general election."

Market Continues Decline On Poor Economic News

NEW YORK, Dec. 10 (AP)—Shares of the steel, motor and railroad giants slipped to new lows for 1957 today as the stock market continued to give ground on poor economic news.

Turnover was a moderate 2,366,000 shares compared with 2,230,000 yesterday.

Oils, chemicals, nonferrous metals, rubbers and radio-televisions joined the decline.

Aircraft, though generally lower, had some news on which to resist the trend and showed some gainers.

The top three of the steel industry—U.S. Steel, Bethlehem and Republic—recorded 1957 lows. So did General Motors, Chrysler and Ford. Pennsylvania Railroad, New York Central and Baltimore & Ohio did likewise.

The most active was Standard Oil (N.J.), off 3/4% at 50 1/2 on 42,400 shares. Second was Bethlehem, off 1/2% at 36 1/2 on 40,000 shares, third was U.S. Steel, off 1 1/2% at 50 1/2 on 35,100 shares.

While most key stocks dropped from fractions to a point some were off around 3.

Youngstown Sheet dropped 2 1/2%, Chrysler 1 1/2%, Du Pont 1 1/2%, Gulf Oil 1 1/2%, Zenith 3/4%, Kennecott 1, Paramount 1 1/2% and New York Central 1/2%.

ARE INSTALLED — The Baltimore and Ohio Veterans had election and installation of officers at the Christmas meeting held in the B&O YMCA. Left to right are Mrs. G. H. Barnard, recording secretary; J. W. Day, guard; W. J. Drumm, past president; F. W. Hartell, treasurer; E. S. Leasure, president; A. I. Smith, vice president; and Carl Koerner, chaplain. Exchange of jingles and group singing featured the entertainment.

Local Child Is Member Of Wedding Party

Deborah Ellen Byrd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Byrd Jr., 30 Ridgeway Terrace, was flower girl for her cousin, Miss Dale Rochelle Dockney, who became the bride of Rev. G. David Shreeves, December 7.

The ceremony was performed in National City Christian Church, Washington. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward W. Dockney, Martinsburg, W. Va. The bridegroom, pastor of Pershing Drive Christian Church, Arlington, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. David E. Shreeves, Delataville, Va. Mrs. Byrd served the cake at the reception, held in Lyon Park community house, Arlington.

Mrs. Shreeves has completed her junior year at Shepherd College and will continue work for her degree in Washington. She spent the summer as organist and taught in vacation Bible school in the church in which she was married. Rev. Shreeves was graduated from Lynchburg College and Union Theological Seminary in Virginia, and the College of the Bible, Lexington, Ky.

Unit To Meet

Lurana Veteran Unit, AVMC will meet at 8:30 Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John G. Burke, 568 Fayette Street.

Bowling Green Homemakers will hold a Christmas party today at noon in the St. Matthews Church social room. Instead of exchanging jingles, contributions will be made for Friends Aware.

Co. Firemen's Auxiliary Yule Party To Be Dec. 13

Announcement of the county auxiliary executive meeting was made and tile for the kitchen was selected at the meeting of the Ladies Auxiliary of the Bedford Road Fire Company, held following the Christmas party Monday evening at the fire hall.

Everyone was invited to the party of the county auxiliary to be held at 7:30, December 13, in LaVale fire hall. Those attending are asked to bring a 50-cent jingle gift. A gray and salmon colored tile was selected for the fire hall kitchen. It will be laid after the first of the year.

Mrs. Nancy Growden presided at the meeting, which opened with the Lord's Prayer and flag salute. Routine reports were given by Mrs. Inez Sweitzer, Mrs. Anna Lee Roberts and the auditing committee. Mrs. Zella Brant was admitted as a member. Mrs. Florence Thompson gave the sunshine report and members decided to send Christmas cards to shut-ins in the area. The group discussed plans for serving the Optimist Club, Union Grove Homemakers and Centenary Young Adult group during the week.

Installation of officers will be held at the January meeting. Hostesses will be Miss Mary Ellen Growden, Miss Orpha Long and Miss Maxine Sweitzer.

The auxiliary presented a gift to all retiring officers, instead of just to the president, as provided in the revised by-laws. Mrs. Growden gave each of her officers and chairmen a gift; and club members presented a gift to Mrs. Mabel Miller, Blue Cross chairman.

Ninety-three firemen, auxiliary members and their families attended the covered dish dinner and program. Candy candles and holders were given as favors, and crinoline trees and pine decorated the tables. A large Christmas tree centered the decorations. Santa distributed oranges and candy canes and jingles were exchanged. Ralph Ferguson offered the invocation.

The program consisted of singing of "O Come All Ye Faithful," "It Came Upon the Midnight Clear," and "Noel," accordion selections of "Silent Night," and "Jolly Old St. Nick," by Sharon Miller; carols sung by Joyce White, Edris Gillum, Herbert Heavner and Kenneth Growden, in old fashioned costumes; and concluded with a reading, "Rudolph" by Mrs. Growden.

The B&O Women's CTP will have Miss Mildred Dreschler as a guest tonight at 8 at the VFW home. A Christmas basket will be packed.

A joint meeting of the Evans-McVicker and Solomon-Athey circles of First Presbyterian Church will be held at 12:30 today in the junior room.

Sacred Feast Is Discussed

Christmas in Turkey is celebrated with prayer, Mrs. Robert W. Meals told members of the Community Service Group of the Woman's Civic Club at the luncheon meeting last week at the club house. The former Princess Nermine of Turkey explained the feast is not symbolized by the Christmas tree, but celebrated by prayer, which begins the Christmas day.

Mrs. Anthony Saeli presided at the business session and introduced guests. They were Mrs. Peter Berry, Mrs. William Wilton Sr., and Mrs. Marie Seigler. Decorations were in keeping with the season. Golden candelabra, leaves and pine cones centered the buffet table. Small decorated Christmas trees were used on the individual tables. Mrs. F. Allan Weatherholt was hostess, assisted by Mrs. Albert D. Darris, Mrs. James Grosh, piano duets by Mrs. Ivan Hall, Mrs. Kenneth Wolf; a story, "The Reward of the Cheerful Candle," by Mrs. John Lower, with Mrs. Samuel Weatherholt at the piano; and carols by the string quartet composed of Dr. Elizabeth Brings, Mrs. Vernon Cost, Mrs. Dana McKinney and Mrs. Irwin.

Assistant hostesses were Mrs. Witwer Richards, Mrs. John Zornig and Mrs. Harry Parker.

Program Presented

The WSCS Group 3 of Central Methodist Church heard a program of Christmas music at the meeting recently in the church study. Mrs. Anna Turner was leader and Miss Clementine Lewis was in charge of devotions. Christmas decorations and a lighted tree adorned the fellowship hall for the social hour. Vicki Eakels played Christmas music on the piano and Donna Hopkins on the accordion. Gifts were distributed and refreshments served. Others present were Mrs. Ruth Leasure, Mrs. Marie Africa, Mrs. Helen Griffith, Mrs. Madeline Michael, Miss Norma Simmons, Miss Virginia Simmons, Miss Lena Tiplon, Miss Naomi Parks, Miss Shirley Johnson and Miss Patricia Africa.

Others present were Mrs. Ruth Leasure, Mrs. Marie Africa, Mrs. Helen Griffith, Mrs. Madeline Michael, Miss Norma Simmons, Miss Virginia Simmons, Miss Lena Tiplon, Miss Naomi Parks, Miss Shirley Johnson and Miss Patricia Africa.

To Present Program

In observance of the Feast of Lights, Mrs. Arthur Friedland will present a program, "A Yemite Chanukah," at the meeting of Hadassah tonight. It will be given in B'er Chayim Temple at 8:15. Mrs. Samuel Jacobson will be the reader and Mrs. Harvey Dezen, soloist.

Mrs. Robert Friedland and Mrs. Robert Gerson will be hostesses.

Park Place Friendship Circle Bible Class will hold a party at 7:30 tonight at the church. Secret sisters will be revealed.

Gold Star Party Today

The Gold Star Mothers Club will hold its monthly meeting tonight at 8 in the American Legion Home.

All members are reminded to bring cookies or candy to be sent to the Newton D. Baker Hospital for Christmas.

A jingle party will follow, at which time refreshments will be served.

A Christmas program by Peter Lucas will feature the meeting of the Jaycees tonight at the Cumberland Country Club. During the business session, final plans will be made for the party for needy children.

Cresaptown PTA Yule Party Tomorrow

The Cresaptown Parent-Teacher Association will hold a Christmas party tomorrow night. Room visitation will begin at 7:15. No business session is planned.

There will be a grand march led by Miss Myra Nefflin and Augustine Diaz. James Glover will lead the carol singing. Concluding the evening refreshments will be served in the cafeteria by the first grade homeroom mothers, Mrs. Thomas Barton, Mrs. Grady Wolford, Mrs. James Armstrong, Mrs. Charles Adams, Mrs. Clement Myers, Mrs. James Feeney, Mrs. Mary Martiran and Mrs. K. O. Nelson are in charge of arrangements.

W. E. Heffer, 230 Arch St., is a patient in Sacred Heart Hospital.

Stotler said he thought the children should receive the consideration in view of the thousands of dollars which the county has appropriated for handling stray dogs.

Hamilton told the board that the station wagon used to transport handicapped children to special classes conducted by the Board of Education is in bad shape and the organization would like to obtain a school bus to transport the children.

The station wagon holds only eight or nine children and there are 15 or 16 who must be trans-

Post Office Notes Increase In Parcel Post

A noticeable increase in the amount of parcel post being handled at the main Post Office and Station A here, and at the LaVale Post Office, points out the beginning of the Christmas mail season, postal service spokesmen said yesterday.

The two local facilities, and a parcel post annex located at the LaVale Fire Hall, were opened from noon to 4 p.m. Sunday, but the continual rain that day apparently kept most people from taking advantage of the extra service being offered.

Monday, however, the same facilities remained open until 8 p.m., and a noticeable increase was noted in the amount of parcel post.

There were 959 pieces of parcel post handled at the main Post Office, more than four times the customary Monday business. Cancellations also surged to 32,200, and while well below what is expected daily within the next week or ten days, forecasts another new record in that category.

Harry G. Parker, superintendent of Station A in South Cumberland, said his personnel handled 31 sacks of parcel post yesterday, plus six packages that were too large to be so handled. This is more than double the usual figure, Parker said, and necessitated several hours of extra work.

George Dressman, postmaster at LaVale, has no figures available, but stated the parcel post and cancellations at that facility were also above normal.

Both parcel post windows were opened for business at the main Post Office Monday to prevent delay in mailing. Two extra men had to be called in to help load the parcel post for transit to trains, officials said.

In order to keep abreast of the anticipated volume of mail, additional window service is planned at the three local facilities on Saturday and Sunday, and next Monday and Tuesday.

Window service will be available from 8 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. on Saturday; from noon to 4 p.m. Sunday, and from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. next Monday and Tuesday.

In addition, the parcel post annex in LaVale will be open daily from noon to 5 p.m. All services, except delivery of mail, will be available at the annex, Dressman said.

Let the fabric and line of your party gowns convey character.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Your Party Gown

Take a long and analytical look through what is the latest in party fashions — and come to some conclusions about what will make the most of your personality. What part do you wish to take?

If it's demure you wish to be, choose chiffon lace or tulle over one or two skirts of the same color but different shades. Of course, let the cut and design of your frock be more promising than revealing. Or, choose a white wool lace sheath over silk jersey or taffeta, uncluttered and simple of line. You'll be a pristine princess and just what dreams are made of.

You could not be more dashing nor more up-to-the-minute fashionwise than in a white satin sheath with black-satin birdback interest soaring to a big-bow heights. With it wear jet and crystal and elbow-length black gloves.

Is it drama you seek to portray? You'll have it in a one-color slim-sleender costume of either brocade, satin or velvet with matching stole, gloves, purse and slippers. Shall it be white, gold, silver or black? Only your mirror can tell you.

If you want to be distinguished, let your gown be lace, chiffon or satin, sumptuous and rich. Avoid the brilliant hues and be sure that your gown is enhanced with a stole matching in shade although not necessarily in fabric. Let the stole dig deep in back and fall majestically to the floor from both arms.

Whether you choose a ballerina or floor-length gown or a theater costume with its own cover-up jacket, seek the lines that flatter your figure and enhance your proportions.

Did you note that white was mentioned frequently? There's good reason: Winter white is the darling of the season; it's becoming to all — and depending on fabric and cut, white can express exactly what you wish!

Bond Case Goes To High Court

The Maryland Court of Appeals will hear arguments tomorrow on whether the city can legally change the sale date of a proposed $500,000 urban development bond issue.

The bond issue is scheduled to go to a referendum as a result of a ruling by Judge Morgan C. Harris in Allegany County Circuit Court that a petition of residents contained enough valid signatures to send it to a vote.

Original sale date for the bonds was last May 21. This passed by, however, because of the referendum request. Now the city wants to know if it can change the sale date without affecting the validity of the bond issue ordinance.

Arguments for the City of Cumberland will be presented by Thomas B. Finan, city attorney, while William C. Walsh will represent Owen E. Hitchins, who filed the friendly suit to test the validity of the bond ordinance.

Ridgeley Lions To Sell Christmas Trees

The Ridgeley Lions Club Monday completed plans for their annual sale of Christmas trees, proceeds of which are used for the benefit of the club's sight conservation project.

The sale will be held Saturday and Sunday at Deremer's garage on West Virginia Route 28, according to Lawrence J. Maxson, chairman.

Only fresh-cut trees will be sold, Maxson said, explaining that they are now being cut, and will be trucked to the site of sale on Thursday by Parry Davis and Clarence Hartman, members of the club.

County Group To Attend Commissioner Meeting

The Allegany County officials will attend today's meeting of the County Commissioners Association of Maryland at Annapolis at which legislation will be the main topic of discussion.

Commissioner William A. Wilson, Somerville Nicholson, supervisor of assessments, and Gorman E. Getty, attorney to the county board, left yesterday for Annapolis as the session begins at 10 a. m. today.

Proposed measures affecting the counties which the Legislative Council has decided upon will come up for discussion. The Legislature will meet in February for a 30-day session.

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners and several other county officials will also attend a meeting December 18 in Baltimore with the State Roads Commission at which the 12-year road program will be discussed.

Allegany County is particularly interested in financial details in connection with relocation of the North Branch Road, having the state take over the county's jurisdiction for the Pinto Bridge across the Potomac River near the Allegany Ballistics Laboratory and also the federal aid matching fund program for road projects.

The county will relocate the North Branch Road so as to conform with an overhead bridge across eight tracks of the expanded B&O yards in that area. The B&O will pay for the overhead bridge and approaches. Upon completion of the bridge, which will be about 1,600 feet east of the present grade crossing, it will revert to the county for the maintenance.

Wounded Man To Undergo More Surgery

The condition of 50-year-old Elmer Grubb, Garrett County tavern operator who was shot Monday during an attempted holdup of his establishment, remains "serious," authorities said last night.

The proprietor of the Four Oaks Tavern on U. S. Route 50 near Gorman is a patient in Garrett County Community Hospital where he is scheduled to undergo additional surgery for the removal of a bullet from his neck.

Sheriff James E. Frantz, who is investigating the attempted armed holdup of the tavern by two unidentified men, said Mr. Grubb underwent surgery shortly after he was shot. But the man's condition did not permit the removal of the bullet which is lodged in the back of the neck. Attending physicians hope to build up Mr. Grubb's strength so they can operate later this week for the slug, he said.

Meanwhile, Garrett County authorities and Maryland State Police have issued an all-points bulletin for the two armed men who entered the tavern and shot Mr. Grubb about 7:45 p. m. Monday.

The pair escaped in a station wagon, described to police as having a cream or tan top with a carrier. One man was said to be tall and the other stocky. No money was taken from the tavern when the men fled after the shooting.

Property Board Awards $2,827 For SRC Land

Ruland T. Gilson and Myrtle E. Gilson, his wife, have been awarded $2,827.50 by the Allegany County Board of Property Review for about four-tenths of an acre on the west slope of Polish Mountain needed by the State Roads Commission for slope and drainage easements along relocated U.S. Route 40.

The SRC had deposited $2,210, which it considered a fair price for the land sought.

This was the 13th award made by the Board of Property Review since its organization early this year. In May there were 11 awards but six of them were appealed to Circuit Court. Four appeals were taken by the property owners and two by the State Roads Commission.

Since May there have been only two awards by the county board. One was made in October and the Gilson award this month.

Some 115 cases have been filed in the SRC land acquisition docket in the clerk's office at the Court House and checks have been issued to the property owners.

Members of the Board of Property Review are William S. Jenkins, chairman; Charles L. Kopp and William M. George.

Tree Lighting Ceremonies Set

Community Christmas trees will be lighted simultaneously Sunday night on the lawn of Emmanuel Episcopal Church and at the park area at Race and Seymour streets.

The ceremonies will begin at 9:15 p. m. at trees erected by the City of Cumberland.

A third tree has been placed for North End at a park area on Valley Street.

City crews were busy yesterday placing strings of colored lights on the trees which were Christmas gifts of citizens.

Churches in South Cumberland are cooperating in plans for the tree lighting ceremony there which will feature music by Fort Hill High School Band, community singing of Christmas carols and the reading of the Christmas story.

Virginia Avenue has been decorated with lighted laurel strands through the cooperation of the South Cumberland Business Men's Association.

Bedford Valley Cow Tops Dairy Group In Butterfat

Black Veauty, a grade Holstein belonging to Lloyd Nave, Bedford Valley, Pa., was the November butterfat champion of the Potomac Valley Dairy Herd Improvement Association with 83 pounds of butterfat in 1,530 pounds of milk.

Seven of the 28 herds in the association had at least one cow in the list of the ten highest butterfat producers for November.

Three dairy farmers had two cows each on the honor roll. Wilbert R. Paul, Mt. Savage, had the fourth and fifth best producers; John T. Mason, Cresaptown, the sixth and eighth best producers; and Ernest L. Light, Pinto, with two cows tied for ninth place.

Other dairy farms with one cow on the honor roll include I. L. Brooke and Sons, Pinto, whose Snow Drop, a registered Holstein, ranked second; Fred C. Siple, Fort Ashby, W. Va., third best producer, and Potomac State College, Keyser, the seventh best.

During November there were 1,006 cows on test. The average production was 664 pounds of milk, 27.2 pounds of butterfat and 4.09 per cent butterfat.

Mr. Mason's herd had the highest average production for November. His 78 cows averaged 1,194 pounds of milk, 43.4 pounds of butterfat and 3.6 per cent test.

Seven of the ten top producing cows were Holsteins, three of them registered; two were Ayrshires, one registered, and one was a grade Guernsey.

Co. Welfare Building Work Is Proposed

A proposal for certain improvements in the Allegany County Welfare Department building was submitted to the Board of County Commissioners yesterday.

Mrs. Elinor M. Westerfeld, director of the department, said she would like to install partitions to divide several large rooms into conference rooms and to install new lights. She said the funds could be obtained from the allotted money for administrative purpose because her department is understaffed.

The commissioners asked her to get some estimates and return to a later meeting.

Kenneth T. Northcraft, RFD 5, Triple Lakes, wrote the county board asking that shale or gravel be placed on the road in front of his house. He said that when it rains there are mud holes in front of his house.

The matter was referred to County Roads Supervisor J. Walker Chapman.

New Questions For Oldsters

A study of the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare promises new and more accurate information on how older Americans adjust to retirement. It will require 12 years to complete it.

Approximately 3,000 persons will be recruited in the study. The plan is to enlist their help when they apply for Social Security benefits between now and the end of the year. From then on, the volunteers will be asked at regular intervals to answer searching questions relative to their personal economic experiences in their leisure years.

Among the questions to which the government will seek answers is what proportion of the older age group have adequate resources when they retire and what they do if they ever come to the point when these supports—Social Security benefits included—become too meager to sustain them.

Officials also are interested in getting a truer reflection of the general attitude toward retirement and its problems. They want to know what retired people regard as their greatest unmet needs and how they adjust to changing circumstances.

Questions also will be asked as to how major living costs are altered when leisure replaces working years and what people on retirement due in the event that heavy medical expenses exhaust their assets. Finally, the government is interested in learning how long the financially independent remain in that status and—if worse comes—under what circumstances they have to accept help, whether public or private.

This study, to be made in cooperation with the Census Bureau, promises to supply a sounder foundation for the program of caring for the nation's growing number of individuals 65 years of age and older. It is a study that can reflect the changing fortunes of older folk and might be worth considering as a continuing program.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky
Americans In Opera

The other day, when I was reading about Caruso, I wondered how many Americans sing in opera today and how important they are. I was surprised to find that more than 50 per cent of all the artists in the Metropolitan Opera Company are either American-born or naturalized American citizens and that among the native Americans are some of the leading singers.

The total cast of artists is 106; the Americans come to 62.

It is possible to think of the temperamental Maria Meneghini Callas as an Italian or a Greek, but the place was New York City. I was surprised to note that all but one of the mezzo-sopranos and contraltos are American. But I knew that such popular tenors as Jan Peerce and Richard Tucker were of this country.

Among the conductors, there is an American, Thomas Schippers, whom I first saw conduct a student orchestra at Tanglewood. And now Leonard Bernstein, also a Tanglewood alumnus, is conductor of the New York Philharmonic, a most notable achievement.

Musicians like to pride themselves that they do not go in for chauvinism, that theirs is an international language which knows no boundaries. But it is used to be that they might have been for an American to get anywhere in this field in his own country. Some Americans even changed their names to sound like Europeans. When Edward Johnson, a Canadian, started in Europe, he gave himself an Italian name, which he soon enough discarded. Emma Eames was the first great singer who was an American. Gatti-Casazza, who was often accused of being so Italian that he never learned to speak English, nevertheless sponsored the careers of Rosa Ponselle, Lawrence Tibbett and Grace Moore.

I am also told that whereas in the past it used to be that American opera imported its singers from abroad, even this trend has been reversed and Americans are singing all over Europe most brilliantly and with great success.

Maybe we lack engineers but not soprano and baritone and for what we do not lack, let us take full credit. The opportunities for the American artists, however, are not too great. There are two opera houses in New York, a short season at the City Center and a fuller season at the Metropolitan. San Francisco has a season of opera and there are some travelling companies.

But many excellent singers are found in church choirs, on television or radio and even in night clubs which are the last refuge of the artist. There are an increasing number of chorals groups which produce a wide variety of programs of artistic significance. Only occasionally is singing in the live theater worth while, the style continuing to be raucous, as it must be when it fights the shrillness of brazen brass that seeks to justify high prices by an excess of noise.

But even the live stage may return to the finer music to which it was accustomed when "The Merry Widow" was the rage. Such an opera as "La Perichole," which is really a musical comedy in the pleasant style of the 19th Century, may set the standard of another day when the younger generation may have money enough to pay for Broadway tickets and when they will demand sweet music even if not long-haired.

The opera has one advantage over the Broadway theater: If there is any dirt, it is sung in a foreign language and nobody understands the words anyhow. I recently went to a very popular play on Broadway, a hit this year, and discovered that whereas the author had a fairly amusing plot, he did not trust his humor to carry the audience. He introduced a gimmick. He had a small boy innocently say what small boys call dirty words. And every time he said one of those, the audience roared.

They thought it so funny on the stage, but if their own children, say nine years old, walked into their living rooms, in front of guests, and used such language, even parents who practised progressive education would want the tar out of them or as they used to do in my day, wash their mouths with yellow soap. Children may safely be taken to such operas as they might enjoy without fear that they will refer to their mothers by an awful word that begins with a b.

'Now - Open Wide'

Wiretap: Distinction Without Difference

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—Overnight the "supreme law of the land" has been proclaimed by the Supreme Court of the United States as follows:

1. It is illegal for anyone to tap a telephone wire, and where state authorities do it—as permitted under state laws—the evidence cannot be used in federal court trials.

2. It is lawful for either party to a telephone conversation to eavesdrop and make a stenographic or tape recording.

Many people will call this "a distinction without a difference."

For when the intercepted recording is made without the knowledge and consent of one of the parties to a telephone conversation, it is seemingly as much a violation of privacy as if it had been accomplished by a clandestine apparatus—unknown to either party.

For the Federal Communications Act passed by Congress is explicit on this point. It says:

"No person not being authorized by the sender shall intercept any communication and divulge or publish the existence, contents, substance, purport, effect, or meaning of such intercepted communication to any person."

But two out of the nine justices of the Supreme Court—Justices Frankfurter and Douglas—said:

"It is one of the accepted modes of carrying on business in our time to have secretaries listen in on conversations by their principals. A secretary may fairly be called the employer's 'alter ego.' And so, a secretary is fairly to be deemed as much of an automatic instrument in the context of our problem as a tape-recorder. Surely a police officer called in to facilitate the detection of crime is not such an 'alter ego.'"

In this case it wasn't a private secretary but a police officer who listened in on an extension telephone when a man was making a criminal threat.

The two dissenting justices thought that the evidence obtained by the police officer should be barred from use at the trial just as is any testimony obtained through wire-tapping. The other seven justices thought it was all right to use in court the information obtained. Chief Justice Warren, speaking for the majority, argues that federal law also says that the receiver of a communication by telephone or otherwise may use it for his own benefit. The court says it isn't an "intercepted" communication at all and that Congress didn't intend any such meaning.

But the fact remains that one party to the conversation had not given the other party any permission. On this point, the court majority opinion says: "The communication itself is not privileged, and one party may not force the other to secrecy merely by using a telephone. . . . the conduct of the party . . . differ in no way if instead of repeating the message he held out his handset so that another could hear out of it."

Certainly if a man threatens another man's life and the police listening in learn that fact, they should have the right to save a life and use the evidence at a trial no matter how they get it. But the Supreme Court says it can't be done unless the police happen to be listening in on an extension telephone. The police are, therefore, forbidden to tap wires leading in and out of bars and places where criminals gather and to intercept messages, for example, concerning the unlawful use of narcotics. Nor can the police thereafter use in court such evidence obtained against enemy spies.

The Supreme Court's decision will put many people on notice to avoid telephone conversations that are recorded, and it remains to be seen what some court may do someday in a case involving the publication of information which the sender had every reason to believe was being kept secret as he requested. If it be assumed that the sender has no property right to what he says in a telephone conversation and that anyone listening in on an extension phone or a recording instrument may publish it at will—and the Supreme Court now says telephone conversations are not "privileged" and cannot be kept secret unless both parties agree—then the net result will be to create many hazards in the use of the telephone which the general public has not hitherto known about. Caution in what is said over the telephone will be the inevitable result unless one party can trust the other not to make a recording.

Dietary Peculiarities Normal In Children

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Feeding problems are common in childhood but they are not as serious as most parents believe. They usually stem from changes in taste and can be corrected with a little strategy. Malnutrition rarely occurs in these finicky or fractious tots, so keep your wits about you and the less said the better.

Troubles of this nature can be expected at certain stages of development. Some infants object to their first taste of semi-solid food, at approximately six months of age. It is a new experience and mothers who are forewarned need not get upset when baby spits out cereal or chopped meat. If the rebellion continues, offer another type of food, such as cooked fruits or ripe bananas. When these are accepted, switch back to cereal and meat.

Children grow in spurts and eat like a horse during periods of weight gain. In between, appetite wanes and the fun begins. One of the most difficult times is around the first and second birthdays. Eating is secondary to learning to walk and play with toys. Junior is getting a mind of his own and explores the apartment or home from bedroom to kitchen.

He may take a dislike to carrots, milk, or mashed potatoes overnight during this phase. The wise mother recognizes the signs and concentrates on meat, fruit, or cereal. Occasionally the tyke limits his choice to one or two foods. There is no harm in this because it usually is a temporary aberration.

But if the child insists upon candy, cookies, and pop to the exclusion of nutritious meals, this is the time to crack down. Every physician has been confronted with the statement, "My child refuses to drink milk." Strategy is needed here also. Give junior water to drink but put plenty of milk in his cereals, custards, and soups. Serve ice cream for dessert. Some youngsters will accept chocolate milk for a month or two and never notice the switch back to ordinary milk.

At any rate, when Junior goes on a food strike, do not use threats or force. Both parents should stick together and not let the dining room become a bargaining hall. Most of these problems work out eventually, even though they seem to be endless. Even high school students have their dietary peculiarities.

Nixon And Adams Struggle For Authority In The White House

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — The biggest backstage story in Washington today is the struggle for power between Vice President Nixon, the man who is almost certain to end up in the White House, and Assistant President Sherman Adams, the man who has hitherto run the White House. It involves the future of our missile program, the future of the Presidency, and the future of the United States.

In the middle is Dwight D. Eisenhower. In the opposite wings on Adams' side are astute Jim Hagerty and the White House staff; on Nixon's side, powerful Republican leaders including Attorney General Rogers and to some extent Secretary of State Dulles.

No harsh words are being exchanged. Both sides are discreet and circumspect. Vice President Nixon is careful not to appear to be trying to step into Eisenhower's shoes. Nonetheless, the battle is very real and bitterness crops out in unguarded moments. Here are the details of the struggle:

Long before Sputnik, Vice President Nixon was battling backstage to meet the Soviet challenge, and to heck with the cost. He knew, as did everyone else in the Administration, despite the strict secrecy ban on information to the public, that the Soviet was forging far ahead in missiles, satellites, and almost every modern weapon.

Nixon Blocks Adams
His opponents were Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey, Secretary of Defense Wilson, and Adams. It was Humphrey and Adams who, two years before, after Ike's heart attack in Denver, had blocked Nixon's quiet move to assume more authority. They let him preside at Cabinet meetings and National Security Council meetings, but that was all.

Humphrey and Wilson, however, have now dropped out of the Cabinet. Sherman Adams remains — efficient, tight-lipped, devoted to Eisenhower, determined to block Vice President Nixon from assuming too much authority, and still anxious to balance the budget.

On the day the President suffered his minor stroke, Nixon and Attorney General Rogers moved into the White House. Rogers is the able young man at whose home Nixon conferred most of the night immediately after Ike suffered his heart attack. This time they remained at the White House all day. Nothing was said. There were no arguments, no harsh words. But Nixon politely made sure that he would be on deck in case of serious developments.

Simultaneously, Secretary Dulles lined up on his side by sending unofficial word to Paris that Nixon would probably substitute for Eisenhower at the NATO meeting.

Also simultaneously, Nixon let it be known that he, not Adams, would preside at the White House meeting of Congressional leaders if the President was not able to attend.

New Hampshire Feud Flares

While this was going on, Senator Styles Bridges of New Hampshire, one of the most powerful Republicans on Capitol Hill, publicly called for Nixon to take over as Acting President. Bridges is a friend of Nixon's. He is not a friend of Adams'. Both once served as Governor of New Hampshire, both are powers in New England politics, and in Washington. But neither likes the other.

Bridges even sent word to the White House that he would stay away from the meeting of Congressional leaders unless Nixon, not Sherman Adams, presided. It was intimated that he also spoke for Senator Lyndon Johnson of Texas and the Democrats.

Significantly, when the congressional leaders met at the White House, Sherman Adams was not present. Usually he sits in the front row, but not this time. Fortunately the President had recovered sufficiently to preside at part of the time.

Before this, however, and while Eisenhower was still in his bed-room, Jim Hagerty had come charging back from Paris. Hagerty has never cared much for Nixon, and it was apparent, following his return, that Jim's sentiments had not changed.

Hagerty Gets Mad

Hagerty persuaded Dulles to make no final decision on whether Nixon should attend the Paris meeting, but keep it open until later when Eisenhower himself could personally approve the appointment.

This accounts for the fact that the State Department had sent one set of instructions to the American Embassy in Paris that Nixon was coming, while the White House was giving out a contrary statement that Eisenhower might come.

To reassure the nation and because Nixon insisted, Hagerty agreed to let Nixon use the White House for an unprecedented news conference. As far as newsmen can remember, no Vice President has ever held a press conference in the White House before. Nixon then announced that he would preside at Cabinet meetings and at the meeting with legislative leaders.

He also told reporters that the President was having difficulty finding words to express himself. This infuriated Hagerty. For Hagerty had told the press that the President was having difficulty only in pronouncing certain long words.

It was immediately after this that Hagerty retaliated against Nixon by announcing that Eisenhower might go to Paris. Later Eisenhower presided over both the Cabinet meeting and the Congressional conference, even though he talked quite slowly and was tired. This boxed off Nixon. The President, however, took no part in the struggle, did not even know what was going on.

Thus continues the silent, backstage battle for power in Washington.

Strength vs. Economy

By Henry Cathcart

WASHINGTON — Congress is almost sure to vote whatever the Eisenhower administration asks in the way of increased funds for the Armed Forces, particularly those earmarked for missile projects.

However, there will be a strong Democratic fight against any companion proposals by the President to cut down on domestic programs to offset the higher military spending. Mr. Eisenhower has said that "whole categories" of government spending will have to be eliminated to help pay the bigger defense bill.

The biggest target for cutting may be the multi-billion dollar farm program but the chances of reducing this outlay are dim. The congressional farm bloc will wage a last-ditch fight against any cuts.

Other programs which undoubtedly will be targets of economy axe-wielders are the veterans administration and public works.

NUCLEAR STOCKPILE — An indication of the extent to which America's nuclear weapons stockpile will be increased is contained in the disclosure that the United States increased purchases of uranium by 54 per cent during the 12-month period that ended last July 1.

One of the reasons for the higher output of nuclear weapons is the decision to set up a stockpile of such items of space-age warfare for the NATO countries.

Latest figures from the Atomic Energy commission reveal that production of nuclear material has increased 20 per cent. The vast quantities of uranium are being stored for the increase in weapons production.

NEW MAIL SCHEME — Don't fall for the latest chain letter scheme now sweeping the United States.

That is the warning of Post Office department officials who are swinging into action to prevent the further spread of the plan.

Postal inspectors say promoters of the scheme use United States savings bonds instead of cash, hoping to convince the gullible that this doesn't violate the law.

One such chain letter promised $10,420 in bonds to the person at the top of the list. Instead of sending cash those taking part would send a $25 saving bond.

The odds are against winning such a sum, inspectors warn — so is the law.

X-RAY USE—Despite the Public Health Service's recommendation that mass use of X-rays to detect tuberculosis be halted to reduce the risk of radiation exposure, the armed forces are continuing this practice.

Although the mass programs in the past have been praised, the Health Service's recommendation signifies the dangers that exist. Medical experts point out, however, that the risks from radiation exposure have been relatively small compared with the benefits.

Except for the armed forces there is an evident swing to the tuberculin skin testing method as a first step. State and local health agencies are turning to this procedure for testing purposes.

The nation's reserve programs are extremely lax in recognizing the dangers in X-rays. Many reservists are ordered to take chest X-rays, even if they have had one in the past six months. Opponents of X-rays are hoping that the service medical activities follow the advice of Surgeon General Leroy E. Burney.

Circle K Club Schedules Show This Evening

Potomac State Group Plans Minstrel

KEYSER — The Circle K Club, an affiliate of the Keyser Kiwanis Club, and a campus organization at Potomac State College, will present its sixth annual all-campus show this (Wednesday) evening in the college auditorium. The show will open at 8.30 o'clock.

The theme for this year will be the old fashioned minstrel show. Members of the club will be featured as the interlocutor and end men. Circle K president, Harold Wimer, is the interlocutor; end men are Harold Smith, James Conover, Theodore Giffin, Berlin Collett, with William Brown as an alternate. Smith, originator of the theme received assistance from Kenneth Haines, faculty member.

Nine acts are on the agenda for this evening. Organizations and their acts entered are Phi Kappa Omega, who will represent Nile Johnson, vocalist, and Alexander Alex, his accompanist. A combo will be the representing act from Theta Sigma Chi fraternity. Pat Nuzum, vocalist, and a baton twirling act by Donna Asenfelder are presented by Kappa Delta Psi Sorority.

Margie Frye and Beverly Lapey in a skit and Ernestine Locke, with a monologue will appear on behalf of Eta Epsilon Gamma Sorority. Sigma Iota Chi sorority will feature the singing of Frances Hartman and an imitation by Nora Egan. The Christian Youth Fellowship will have an act but it is unknown at this time.

W. E. Michael, faculty advisor, announced that there is a possibility that other acts will be presented.

Tickets are available from Circle K Club members at the door.

Lions Club In Tri-Towns Sets Meeting

WESTERNPORT — The regular dinner meeting of the Tri-Towns Lions Club will be held Thursday at 6.30 p. m. in the social hall of Mt. Calvary Lutheran Church.

The tentative speaker will be Paul Bowman Jr., who will relate his experiences at the International Boy Scouts Jamboree last summer in Europe.

The club will hold their annual Christmas tree sale at the Piedmont swimming pool grounds December 18-22.

Rex Chilcote is in charge of the sale of the trees and reports that they have good prospects to purchase guaranteed local trees to supplement the 300 trees now on order.

At a recent meeting of the board of directors of the club it was decided to move the December 26 meeting up Thursday, December 19.

A holiday turkey dinner with all of the trimmings will be served at the Christmas party, Santa Claus will be present.

The sponsor of a new member of the club will be given credit towards a key only after the new member has remained a Lion a year and a day. This rule was effective July 1.

The month of January will stress education in Lionism, honoring of founder members in each club, and the celebration of Secretary-General Melvin Jones' birthday.

Keyser Coaches Will Be Honored

KEYSER — The annual post season dinner for coaches, players and parents of members of the Keyser High School football team will be held today at 6.30 p. m. in the home of Keyser Lodge 662, L.O.O. Moose.

James R. Fuller, president of the Keyser Lions Club, will present gifts to Coaches Fred T. Clark and Joseph Stanislawczyk, Owen Schaeffer, member of the school faculty, will speak.

Lions Plan Yule Party For Children

LONACONING — A children's Christmas party will be held on Monday at the Lonaconing Lions Club meeting at the Pythian Hall.

Members will bring their sons or daughters or guests and Santa will present a gift to each child at the dinner and program. Ray Bampton is chairman for reservations.

Mrs. Virginia Blair Heads Midland Pythian Sisters

MIDLAND — Mrs. Virginia Blair is the new most excellent chief of Myrtle Temple No. 2 Pythian Sisters.

She and other new officers were elected at the recent meeting at the Red Men's Hall at which Mrs. Viola McGann presided.

Other new officers are Mrs. Earlene Cordial, excellent senior; Mrs. Edna Lease, excellent junior; Mrs. Thelma Harclerode, manager; Mrs. Anna Jenkins, secretary; Mrs. Naomi Kroll, treasurer; Mrs. Elsie Durst, protector; Mrs. Marie Grey, guard; Mrs. Viola McGann, past chief; Mrs. Nancy Lease, trustee for three years; Mrs. Carrie Morgan and Mrs. Eleanor Knott, holdover trustees; Mrs. Nancy Lease, grand representative; Mrs. Rosemary MacMillan, alternate representative; Mrs. Louise Ravenscroft, grand senior, and Mrs. Pearl Blair, grand manager.

Mrs. Earlene Cordial was appointed press correspondent to the Pythian Tydings and will prepare a scrapbook for the grand temple session next year in Frederick. Mrs. Pearl Blair was elected director of work from the temple and publicity chairman. Mrs. Eleanor Knott was elected captain of the degree staff. A pianist will be elected December 18.

Joint installation of officers of the local temple and the Knights of Pythias is planned for the January 2 meeting.

The meeting was followed by the annual Christmas dinner party at which gifts were exchanged.

Legion Auxiliary To Attend Dinner

MIDLAND — The Ladies Auxiliary of Midland Post 169, American Legion, will hold its annual turkey dinner in the Shaft Firemen's Hall this evening, where the dinner will be prepared by the auxiliary to the fire company.

All Legion auxiliary members planning to attend should be at the Legion Home at 6 p. m. today. Automobiles will be available for transportation to Shaft.

After the dinner a jingle party will be held at the Legion Home. Each member is asked to bring a $1 jingle gift.

Clarysville Firemen Name New Officers

Carl Schurg Is Elected President

FROSTBURG — The Clarysville Volunteer Fire Company held its election of officers Monday evening and named Carl Schurg president, succeeding Francis Fatkin.

Kenneth Winfield was elected vice president; Russell Burkett, secretary; George Walters, treasurer; Aaron Snyder, chaplain; William Winfield, sergeant at arms, and Francis Fatkin, five year trustee.

James Winfield was re-elected fire chief. Bern Clise was elected assistant chief.

Officers will be installed at the regular meeting on January 6 in the Fire Hall at 7.30 p. m. Paul Haberlein, president of the Allegany-Garrett Counties Firemen's Association, will be the installing officer.

Preceding last night's meeting, the auxiliary served a turkey dinner to all the firemen in conjunction with the annual Christmas party.

Final plans were made for the Christmas party for the children of the community. John T. Winter Jr. gave a report on the county executive committee meeting that was held at the McCoolle Fire Hall December 2.

Junior Fire Marshals Seek Curb On Yule Blazes

KEYSER — Junior fire marshals in elementary schools throughout Mineral County are launching a fire safety campaign this month to prevent Christmas tree fires during the holiday season.

The local effort, part of a coast-to-coast program in which nearly 4,000,000 youngsters will participate, is the second phase of the year-round Junior Fire Marshal program, sponsored here by the Babb Insurance Agency, in cooperation with the Superintendent of Schools S. T. McGee and Fire Chief Robert E. Dorsey.

The theme of the campaign, "A Golden Rule for a Happy Yule," is symbolized by a fire prevention safety tag. Designed as a ten inch gold and red cardboard ruler, the tag lists seven ways to protect Christmas trees against fire.

Tags will be tied to Christmas trees all over the community by boys and girls who qualified as Junior Fire Marshals during Fire Prevention Week in October.

In announcing the special Christmas project, Mrs. Evelyn T. Shinn pointed out that December is a peak fire-loss month throughout the country.

"By enlisting this interest and enthusiasm of children and through them, their parents, Christmas tree fires which mar the holiday season in thousands of communities each year, can be greatly reduced."

The seven ways to protect a Christmas tree against fire listed on the Junior Fire Marshal tags, are:

- Stand tree in water or bucket of wet sand; check tree lights for frayed wire, loose sockets, keep trees away from radiator, fireplace and doors; use only fire-resistant decorations; turn off tree lights when you go out; keep gift wrappings and electric trains away from tree; when needles start to fall, remove tree from house.

"Golden Rule" tags are being distributed to Junior Fire Marshals in more than 10,000 communities throughout the country as a part of the service to prevent fires and great financial loss and probable loss of lives.

Explorers Cop 2nd, Winfield Chalks Up 23

Imes Tosses In 21 Markers; Geatzmen Score 37 Baskets

By TED TROXELL

LaSalle High School's keeneyed Explorers met little resistance from the Bulldogs of Bruce High last night, as they rolled to an 82-54 victory, their second of the young campaign, at St. Peter and Paul gymnasium.

The Explorers, who had a height advantage at every position, took 89 shots from the floor, and hit on 37 of them for a percentage of .416, an improvement over their opening game performance against Valley, in which they connected on 23 of 61 tries.

The rapacious LaSalle cagers continually stole the ball from Bruce, setting up numerous scoring opportunities for themselves, and preventing the Bulldogs from setting up their offense. As a result, the Westernport five attempted only 56 field goals, 19 of which found the range, for a mediocre .339 mark.

"Chazz" Imes, who wound up with 21 points for the Explorers, made a personal project of erasing an early Bruce lead. With several minutes gone in the first period, the Bulldogs jumped off to a 4-3 lead. Imes tallied on a jump shot, then scored a pair of goals under the basket, on perfect assists from Jim Tennent and Van Parsons, to push LaSalle in front, 9-4.

This apparently provided the tonic the Explorers needed, as they went on to build up a 17-10 advantage at the end of the period, and led by a 14-point, 39-25 margin at intermission.

Dick Winfield, rangy LaSalle pivotman, was the leading scorer for both clubs, with 23 points, while Imes hit on 10 of 19 field goal tries and added a foul conversion to account for his 21 markers. Forward Lynn Morris and Bob Kalbaugh paced the visitors with 17 and 10 points respectively. Lineups:

Valley Tops Lions, 53-46
Lauder, Hobel Spark Knights To Triumph

LONACONING, Dec. 11 — Valley High School's Black Knights made their home debut a victorious one tonight by knocking off the Piedmont High School Lions tonight by the score of 53-46.

The teams were deadlocked at 20-all late in the second period when a foul goal by George Lauder turned the tide in the Knights' favor. Valley held the long end of a 38-30 score at the close of the third period.

Lauder and Dave Hobel sparked the Valley offense with 20 and 16 points. This duo accounted for 15 of the winning team's 21 field goals and 36 of the 53 points.

Dick Niland and Joe Taylor collected 19 and 16 points, respectively, for the Mineral county aggregation. They collected 13 of the Lions' 17 goals and 35 of the 46 points.

Piedmont's record now is 2-1. Valley has won one and lost one. Lineups:

Hawks Win, 102-90

NEW YORK, Dec. 10 (P) — The St. Louis Hawks, led by the sharp-shooting and steady play of Bob Pettit and Cliff Hagan, hustled to a 102-90 victory over Cincinnati tonight, stretching their Western Division NBA lead to two games over the Royals.

Campers Lose 46-39 Battle In Hub City

Eddie Spencer Gets 21 Points In North Hagerstown Victory

HAGERSTOWN, Dec. 10 — North Hagerstown High School's Hubs defeated Allegany High School, of Cumberland, in a Cumberland Valley Athletic League basketball game here tonight by the score of 46-39.

Allegany was making its debut in the enlarged cage circuit and also was launching its 1957-58 campaign.

The Campers of Coach Chester Payne led at the quarter, 15-11 and also at halftime, 24-23, but Coach Mel Henry's floormen forged to the fore at 37-34 in the third stanza and never were headed.

Eddie Spencer was the Hubs' chief point-maker with 21 to his credit. He scored nine field goals and meshed three of four free throws. Jack Cook and Gary Shook paced the Allegany attack with 12 points each. Cook slammed in five shots from the field and added two points at the foul line. Shook had three fielders and 6-9 at the charity stripe.

North High outscored Allegany 21 to 14 goals from the field but the Campers held an 11-4 edge in foul goals.

Auburn Receives AP Grid Trophy

AUBURN, Ala., Dec. 10 (AP)—A football-crazy town came to a standstill today to receive the Associated Press trophy for the nation's college gridiron championship.

The award was presented to undefeated, united Auburn by the AP's general sports editor, Ted Smits.

Auburn was voted No. 1 in the nation by sports writers and broadcasters participating in the final AP poll of the season.

The roaring crowd of 12,000 students, alumni and business people defied a cold, stiff wind to witness the presentation at the Auburn football stadium.

It was the first trophy sponsored by the Associated Press following a long series of awards in the name of collegiate gridiron heroes.

Comiskey Files Suit For Stock In Chisox

CHICAGO, Dec. 10 (INS)—Charles Comiskey, vice president of the Chicago White Sox, filed suit today to force his sister, Mrs. Dorothy Rigney, to turn over to him 1,781 shares of stock in the club left to him by his mother.

The petition was filed before probate court Judge Robert J. Dunne and indicated that all is not harmonious in the White Sox family.

Mrs. Rigney is secretary-treasurer of the club and executrix of the will left by the mother, Mrs. Grace Comiskey, who died last year.

Mrs. Rigney's husband, former White Sox pitcher John Rigney, is a vice president.

The White Sox do not have a president and Comiskey's move was regarded in some quarters as a maneuver to have himself

Little St. Francis College Gets Basketball Spotlight

Conqueror Of Dukes Plays St. Joseph's In Philly Tonight

LORETTO, Pa., Dec. 10 (AP)—A red-shirted tribe of Giants, addicted to basketball, is the newest arrival on the winter sports scene.

"Arrival" could be fixed at 10:15 p.m. last night in the University of Pittsburgh Field House when the men from the mountains scored a cherished 65-64 victory over a very sound, but normal-sized, Duquesne University team.

Next stop on their tour is the University of Pennsylvania Palestra at Philadelphia tomorrow against St. Joseph's.

Then to Detroit for a Dec. 17 game. Their ambition is New York and the National Invitation Tournament.

The red-shirted team represents St. Francis College, a Franciscan school in this southwestern Pennsylvania mountain town. The 12-man squad is slightly more than one per cent of the school's total enrollment of 970 boys and girls.

"S.F.C.—N-I-T" is the students' favorite chant.

"We'll make it, too," says coach Skippy Hughes, a diminutive former Pitt star who could wear any one of his player's sweat shirts for an overcoat.

"These kids can jump and shoot. They run fast enough and long enough to play a switching man-for-man defense. I think we have the most overall size in the East."

and are as good as any team anywhere."

Hughes isn't kidding about the size of his players. The "little man" of the varsity is 6-2 back court ace Jack O'Malley. Ten others range upward to 6-8 Wilbur (Tree) Trosch, owner of an accurate outside jump shot.

A tank car holds between 8,000 and 8,250 gallons.

Podres Leads National Loop With 2.66 ERA

Spahn And Drysdale Tie For 2nd At 2.69

By FRED DELUCA

JOHNNY PODRES

Podres, discharged from the navy with a recurrent back ailment, topped the league with a 2.66 E. R. A., edging Milwaukee's Warren Spahn and Don Drysdale of the Dodgers, both of whom finished at 2.69.

Podres, a 25-year-old southpaw, teamed with his 21-year-old teammate to help give the Dodger staff the best E.R.A. mark in the circuit, 3.35. Podres also was high with six shutouts.

Another Milwaukeean, Bob Buhl, had a 2.74 average to finish right behind the big three in the E. R. A. ratings. In addition, Buhl had the best won-and-lost percentage in the league, .720, the result of an 18-and-7 record.

Spahn, Milwaukee's 36-year-old southpaw ace, was the only hurler in the league to win 20 or more games. He had 21 victories, thus extending his own record for "most seasons 20-or-more wins by a left-hander" to eight. He also pitched the most complete games, 18, and won the Cy Young award.

Friend Is Workhorse

Pittsburgh's Bob Friend was the workhorse of the league once again. Friend pitched the most innings (277), made the most starts (38), allowed the most hits (273) and faced the most batters (1,148).

Friend, with a 3.38 mark, was seventh in the E. R. A. parade, trailing teammate Vern Law (2.86) and Philadelphia's Jack Sanford (3.08).

Sanford, who walked off with the N. L. "rookie of the year" award, had a 19-and-8 record and topped the league in strikeouts, 188.

Another promising newcomer, Dick Drott of the Chicago Cubs, issued the most bases on balls, 129.

Veteran Robin Roberts of the Phillies had another bad year. He lost the most games (22), allowed the most homers (40), and yielded the most runs (122). However, Roberts improved his E. R. A. mark from 4.45 to 4.07.

Moe Drabowsky of the Cubs hit the most batters, 10, and another Bruin, Turk Lown, made the most appearances, 67.

Wen Ten Straight

Willard Schmidt, newly traded from St. Louis to Cincinnati, had the longest winning streak, 10 games, and Cincinnati's Don Gross had the longest losing streak, nine games.

Unlike 1956, when Sal Maglie and Carl Erskine turned in no-hitters for the Dodgers, there were no hitless games in the league this season. There were three one-hitters, achieved by Milwaukee's Lew Burdette, Von McDaniel of St. Louis and Johnny Klippstein of the Redlegs.

Hugh and Warren Miller, twins from Sayville, N. Y., played on the 1957 plebe football team for Army. Hugh played guard and Warren was an end.

Baker Is Victor In London Fight

LONDON, Dec. 10 (AP)—Burley Bob Baker of Pittsburgh came on fast in the final five rounds and outpointed Dick Richardson of Wales in a 10-round heavyweight bout tonight in Harringay Arena.

Baker weighed 220, Richardson 202.

The 31-year-old American, former high ranked contender, counter-punched effectively to win decisively. Richardson, who viewed the bout as his last chance to make boxing's big time, threw everything into a desperate attempt for a knockout in the last round, but Baker kept out of range of the Briton's wild rights.

The first five rounds were fairly close with Baker content to jab and Richardson forcing most of the action. Baker opened up in the sixth, bringing blood from Richardson's nose with a hard left-right combination.

Colts Retain Coach Ewbank

Will Head Team For Fifth Year

PASADENA, Calif., Dec. 10 (AP)—Carroll Rosenbloom added to his reputation of an unusual owner of a professional football team today by using its defeat as an excuse to announce he was keeping the coach.

Rosenbloom called a news conference to let it be known that Coach Weeb Ewbank was being retained because the Baltimore Colts lost 17-13 last Sunday to San Francisco.

The Colt president and principal owner said he wanted to talk about a new contract with Ewbank two weeks ago. But Weeb demurred, saying "he still had three games to play which would take up all his time and at the moment they were a blamed sight more important than anything that might happen next year."

"However, I told him last week that although we would hold all negotiations in abeyance while he ate and slept football, and would say nothing at this time if we beat the 49ers, that I was going to make this announcement if we lost at San Francisco."

"Well, we did and so here it is," Rosenbloom said. The agreement only stipulated that Ewbank would remain as coach. Details, such as the length of the contract, will be worked out later. But Rosenbloom promised it will include what he called a substantial raise.

The Colts are tied for first place in the Western Conference of the National Football League with the last scheduled game to be played Sunday against Los Angeles. Ewbank is finishing his fourth season as coach since giving up an assistant's job with Cleveland.

Basilio Wins Neil Plaque Second Time

Champ Is Voted Fighter Of Year

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK, Dec. 10 (AP)—Middleweight champion Carmen Basilio today became the first two-time winner of the Edward J. Neil Memorial Plaque as "Fighter of the Year."

The thumping body puncher from Chittanooga, N. Y., who moved from welter to middle crown on a split decision over Sugar Ray Robinson, Sept. 23, earned the unanimous vote of the Boxing Writers Assn.

Basilio, the winner in 1955 after he won the welter title from Tony DeMarco and defended it in another great fight with the ex-champ, will receive the award at the writers' annual dinner, Tuesday, Jan. 14 at the Waldorf Astoria.

The Neil Plaque is the most prized of all boxing awards and is presented annually to the fighter of the year or the man who did the most to advance the sport during the year. It is given in memory of the former Associated Press boxing writer who was killed in 1938 while serving as a war correspondent in Spain.

Floyd Patterson, youngest heavy weight champ in the history of the prize ring, was the 1956 winner after his victory over Archie Moore.

In a career dating back to 1948, Basilio has fought 71 bouts. His record is 52-12-7 with 25 knockouts. Nobody ever stopped him.

The City Basketball season will get under way tonight at Carver School, Frederick street, where the Knights of Columbus will play Chaney's Transportation quint at 7 o'clock and the Forty and Eight Club will battle it out with the Loyal Order of Moose at 8:30 o'clock.

Mayor Roy W. Eves and members of the city council have been invited to attend as well as members of the organizations sponsoring teams in the six-team circuit.

The Old Germans, defending champions, will meet the Old Exports in the opening game of Thursday night's doubleheader on the Fort Hill High School court at 7 o'clock. In the second game at 8:30 Chaney's will play the Loyal Order of Moose.

Mountaineer Downs Coalton, 49 To 41

THOMAS, W. Va., Dec. 10 (AP)—Mountaineer High School of Thomas racked up its second win of the season here tonight as they downed Coalton High by the score of 49 to 41.

High-point man for the home team was Gene Sines who dumped in a total of 22 points. Best bet for the visiting team was Elmore who tallied 14 markers.

Coalton held an edge at the first quarter, 14 to 12 but Mountaineer High took the lead early in the second frame and were never headed.

Furman To Release Coach Homer Hobbs

GREENVILLE, S.C., Dec. 10 (AP)—Furman University today announced it would not renew the contract of Head Football Coach Homer Hobbs.

Hobbs' three-year pact ends Dec. 31.

The Southern Conference team posted a 3-7 record this year and was 6-24 for three seasons under Hobbs.

Hobbs, Furman's fourth head coach in 12 years, was line coach at Navy for three years before coming here. He was an assistant for a year at Auburn before taking the Navy job.

Calvary Bows To Emmanuel

Episcopalians Win SS Loop Game, 25-23

Emmanuel Episcopal eked out a 25-23 decision over Calvary Methodist in a Sunday School Basketball League game yesterday at the Y.M.C.A.

The victory gave Emmanuel a 2-2 record in the National Division of the circuit while the loss was the fifth in a row for Calvary.

Drake Gibbs was the "big gun" for Emmanuel with five field goals and 13 points. "Mouse" Mickey, Ace Litton and Joe Powelson scored seven points each for the losers.

Two league games are scheduled today on the "Y" court. First Presbyterian will play Melvin Methodist at 5 o'clock and Grace Baptist will meet St. Luke's Lutheran at 5:55 o'clock. Lineups:

Jefferson Co. Race Track OK'd By Court

Construction Of 2nd Course Is Approved

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Dec. 10 (AP)—A unanimous Supreme Court opinion today granted Charles Town Raceway, Inc., permission to construct Jefferson County's second horse racing track.

President Judge James B. Riley wrote the opinion which ordered the State Racing Commission to issue a construction permit to the new racing organization.

The construction permit will not limit Raceway to harness racing. The Charles Town group had indicated it wanted to include flat, or regular, horse racing at the proposed track.

Raceway went to the Supreme Court to appeal action taken by the racing commission last August. At that time, the commission made a construction permit, which had been issued last April 26, retroactively effective as of May 11, 1956. The commission at the same time refused to grant Raceway a three-month extension of the permit and also refused to make it non-restrictive as to the type of racing. The project was limited to night harness racing only. In today's opinion, Judge Riley wrote that the construction permit should be for three months from Pony Express rider. He died recently with the opportunity for the cently.

new tractionized 3-T Custom SUBURBANITE by GOODYEAR

Greatest grip and go on ice, in mud and snow!

- New tractionized tread adds thousands and thousands of tiny traction teeth to more than 5500 biting edges for a firm, claw-like grip on all roads. That's why we can say, "up to 55% better traction" and mean it!
- And here's real economy—because Custom Suburbanites are made with Goodyear's exclusive, triple-tough triple-tempered 3-T Cord bodies and tread compounds, you can count on an extra season of wear. No wonder we say, "You can't afford to be without 3-T Custom Suburbanites!"
- Remember the road-rumble so common in ordinary snow tires! 3-T Custom-Suburbanites correct that—their unique staggered tread design gives a smoother, quieter ride!

You can trade Slip for Grip for as low as $125 weekly

Another World Cops Pimlico Seventh Race

BALTIMORE, Dec. 10 (AP) — Walter J. Appel's 6-year-old and other world gained a head decision over Watson Elliott's Evelyn Miss in the mile and a sixteenth Darlington Purse at Pimlico race course today.

North Downs Farm's Ocean Lane, also making a strong bid, was third, another three quarters of a length back, while Harold Valentine's Sempre was fourth, after flustering his backers by opening up a long lead, only to falter in the last three-sixteenths of a mile.

Another World, with Jockey Harold Keene in the saddle, raced in fourth position in the early stages of the race, began to pick up the leaders on the final bend and when straightened away in the home lane, proved good enough to outgame Evelyn Miss.

Another World paid $8.40, $5.00 and $4.00; Evelyn Miss $10.20 and $4.40, and Ocean Lane $4.80.

Persona Non Grata

AMMAN, Dec. 10 (AP) — Jordan has deported three members of the Syrian Embassy staff as persona non grata (unwelcome), officials said today.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

AXYDLBAAXR
 IS LONG FELLOW

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

SRC Will Open Thruway Bids Project Jan. 14

1.83 Mile Section
Advertised Yesterday

The Maryland State Roads Commission will open bids January 14 on the first contract toward the $12,000,000 Cumberland Thruway project.

G. Bates Chaires, district SRC engineer, said the bids on the first section of the Industrial Highway section of the Thruway will be opened at noon in the SRC offices in Baltimore.

The SRC yesterday advertised for bids on the project which includes 1.83 miles of modern highway which will serve as the Route 51 connection to the cross-town expressway section.

Mr. Chaires said the contract will begin at Crawford Street here and extend to just east of the new Evitts Creek Bridge.

Will Open Bridge

The bridge, the first pre-stressed concrete span to be built in Allegany County, is virtually completed.

Mr. Chaires said the work was held up for some time for lack of expansion plates which have arrived and are being installed.

Plans call for opening the bridge to traffic early next week, weather permitting, after a bituminous wearing surface is placed on the deck of the span.

To Be Dual-Lane

The opening of the span will allow the B & O Railroad to complete fills in that area needed for its big yard expansion program.

The dual-lane highway will proceed by a new route from the Evitts Creek Bridge to Vancouver Street.

From there, it will proceed by way of Montreal Avenue and Fifth Street and by way of Laing Avenue.

The Mayor and Council paved the way for advertising the project Monday when it passed a resolution which will prohibit parking on the left side of the dual lanes of the highway.

William Scott, Former County Auditor, Dies

William Scott, 59, who served as auditor for Allegany County for 17 years, died yesterday in St. Elizabeth's Hospital in Richmond, Va.

Mr. Scott, who resided at 4637 Hanover Avenue, Richmond, was business manager of St. Elizabeth's Hospital for seven years and was a patient there for six weeks.

He began his service as auditor in 1922 and ended his 17 years of service in 1939. Mr. Scott served as a field accountant for the Red Cross in World War II and also worked for the War Department in Washington during the war.

Before assuming his position as business manager of the hospital, Mr. Scott was business manager for a private girls' school in Virginia.

Mr. Scott was very active in Republican politics while living in Cumberland, and was affiliated with the Methodist Church.

He was born in Lonaconing, and was a son of the late John Scott, a former judge of Orphans Court, and Jean (MacMillan) Scott.

Surviving, in addition to his widow, Virginia (Barham) Scott, Richmond, are two sons, James E. Scott and William Scott, both of this city; a daughter, Mrs. Jack Price, Cumberland; three brothers, Adam, Williamsburg, Va.; Harrison, New Carlisle, Ohio, and Hugh Scott, Knoxville, Tenn.; and a sister, Mrs. Hoving, Lonaconing.

The body is at the Bennett Funeral Home, Richmond, where services will be conducted tomorrow at 9 a. m. Additional services will be held at 11 a. m. at graveside. Burial will be in a cemetery at Emporia, Va.

Man Is Queried In $225 Theft

City police questioned a 21-year-old man last night in the theft of $225 from a South Cumberland service station sometime yesterday morning.

Detective E. Gordon Hite questioned the man on the entry of the service station at the intersection of Virginia Avenue and Mary Street sometime between 1 and 2 a. m. yesterday. The man later was released, the detective said.

The service station apparently was entered by someone who unlocked the latch of large garage doors. The money was kept in a paper sack, the proprietor said, and placed on top of a pipe. Nothing else was reported taken.

Prepare For Safety Seminar

West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company officials look on as Leonard B. Brown (center), manager of the safety section of the New York Personnel Department of the company, outlines plans for the all-division safety seminar today and tomorrow in Cumberland and Luke. With him are (left to right) Thomas M.

McCrory, assistant to the vice president in charge of personnel; Harry Markby and Raymond Stevenson, of the safety section, personnel department, at Luke Mill, and James W. Townsen, company vice president in charge of personnel. All divisions and subsidiaries of the firm in North America are represented.

City Collects 69 Per Cent Of Total Levy

The City of Cumberland completed the fifth month of its fiscal year on November 30 with 69 per cent of its total levy and 87 1/2 per cent of the tax levy collected.

Total collections toward the $2,005,860 levy for operating expenses and debt service totaled $1,385,718.81, leaving $620,141.19 to be collected by next June 30.

The city had collected a total of $1,054,539 on its $1,207,630 tax levy, leaving $153,091 to be collected, according to a report on the Condition of the Levy issued yesterday by Arthur B. Gibson, city auditor.

The reports are prepared monthly by the city auditor to allow department heads to check on the condition of all city income and expenditures.

For the first time, the report reflected charges made for sewage treatment services. Charges to individuals are based on 75 per cent of water bills.

A total of $13,398.15 was collected during November for the services.

The city levied $247,500 during the fiscal year for estimated operating costs of $148,000 at the plant, plus $99,500 to repay principal and interest on the $2,000,000 bonds.

Other sources of income appeared to be coming in about on schedule.

As the fifth month ended, $613,615.30 had been spent for city operations and this represented 37 per cent of the $1,663,326.75 set aside for providing city services. Par for the fifth month is 41 1/2 per cent.

Actually, departments had spent about 41 per cent of their budgets, since total expenditures are a few points below par chiefly because only $9,117.35 had been spent for the sewage plant operations and a $37,000 item for relocation of several sewers in connection with the Thruway had not been tapped.

Youth Rally Will Feature Bible Quiz

Meyersdale topped Hyndman 230-110 in the Bible quiz at the youth for Christ Rally on Saturday night, while Allegany and Hyndman were unable to break a tie which resulted from a November quiz.

Meyersdale's team members are Peggy Smith, captain; Ethel Stevanus, Nancy Stevanus and Linda Yoder. Representing Hyndman are Shirley Evans, captain; Dorothy Leydig, Mary Stuby, Norma Jean Shaffer and Carole Logsdon.

Allegany and Meyersdale will compete at the rally Saturday at 7:30 p. m. in the Salvation Army Citadel. Allegany team members are Dave Trumbull, captain; George Price, Ginger Davis, Mary Susan Smith and Richard Biggs.

The top quizzers on each team are Dave Trumbull, Allegany; Shirley Evans, Hyndman, and Ethel Stevanus, Meyersdale. Shirley Evans and Ethel Stevanus each received bonus points for perfect scores.

He is a past president of the Lions Club; past president of the LaVale Parent Teachers Association and past president of the Cumberland Retail Merchants Association.

Mr. Shinnamon, his wife, the former Hazel Heffler of Durham, N. C., and their two sons, Louis and Harry, both students at Allegany High School, reside in Cash Valley, Dressman's Addition, LaVale.

Farm Practices To Be Endorsed

The Allegany County Agricultural Resources Conservation Committee will meet at 1 p. m. Thursday, December 19, to recommend practices to be followed in the 1958 agricultural conservation program.

Miss Elizabeth A. Hoover, manager of the County Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Committee office, said that 13 men are on the resources committee.

They usually recommend about 20 practices selected from the state ASC handbook.

Members of the committee are James H. Weimer, Joseph W. Silber and Bradley H. Dolly, all members of the ASC; Martin M. Gordon, conservationist of the Soil Conservation Service; County Agent Joseph M. Steger, District Forester William H. Johnson, B. Beeson Snyder, area supervisor for the Farmers Home Administration; Vernon Loar, president of the County Farm Bureau, and D. T. Puffinberger, Ernest Slicker, Floyd Buser, Charles S. Harvey and Wilbert R. Paul, all members of the Board of Supervisors of the County Soil Conservation District.

Psychiatrist Says Van Horn Had Epilepsy

TOWSON, Md., Dec. 10 (P)—Dr. Manfred S. Guttmacher, veteran psychiatrist in criminal cases, stuck today to his opinion that Robert Jett Van Horn beat his wife to death during an "epileptic episode."

The legal sanity of the 53-year-old defendant is the crux of his trial for murder of his wife of two years on June 1. He admitted the killing in several notes and statements, but seeks acquittal on a plea he was insane at the time.

Dr. Guttmacher, medical adviser to the Supreme Bench of Baltimore City and a practicing psychiatrist for 28 years, was subjected to prosecution questioning after he testified for the defense.

"I think there is no doubt this man at the time of the commission of this act was incapable of making the distinction between right and wrong."

During the give and take with Prosecutor Frank H. Newell at the trial's seventh day, Dr. Guttmacher acknowledged he does not "see many epileptics in my practice" and does not "think anyone can tell you what epilepsy is."

Judge Michael Paul Smith, one of three hearing the trial without a jury, brought up an earlier statement by Dr. Guttmacher that an electroencephalogram of Van Horn was negative.

"Is it correct," asked the judge, "that the electroencephalogram is one of the main aids in determining whether a patient has epilepsy?"

"I'm sure that's correct," replied the psychiatrist.

Although he admitted to Newell he had witnessed only three cases of criminal epilepsy among his 1,500 to 2,000 court cases, Dr. Guttmacher reiterated his opinion that Van Horn suffered a "convulsive epileptic episode" at the time of his wife's death.

Newell quoted from Dr. Guttmacher's report on Van Horn which referred to the defendant's "present normal mental state."

"I meant that he didn't show any schizophrenic tendencies," explained the doctor.

Dr. Guttmacher recommended that Van Horn be confined to a mental hospital for at least one year.

"He was completely insane at the time the homicide occurred, but is not legally insane at this time, but is medically insane," Dr. Guttmacher testified.

Newell wanted to know why if Dr. Guttmacher thought Van Horn was a suicidal risk he didn't kill himself as he threatened after his wife's death.

"He was disturbed over what course to follow and conflicting things were going through his mind," replied the psychiatrist. "If he had known the right thing to do he would have done it."

The doctor said he thought Van Horn was "thinking clearly enough" when he deposited his wife's body on an embankment and wiped blood from the station wagon in which he drove her away from their country home.

Van Horn had testified he went into a "red rage" and hit his wife after she struck him in the face with her pocketbook in an argument in front of the house.

Van Horn's sister spent many years in a mental institution and committed suicide in 1955. There were conflicting medical reports about whether she had epilepsy. Newell asked Dr. Guttmacher about the differences of opinion.

Youths Nabbed After Fight, Auto Chase

Hearing Continued
Until Saturday

A hearing on motor vehicle charges against three 18-year-old boys who were involved in a speeding race through Cumberland with State Police in pursuit Monday night, was continued until Saturday in Trial Magistrate Court yesterday.

Magistrate J. Milton Dick said he continued the case after testimony revealed a fracas at a Cresaptown teen-age hangout. He also stated he issued a warrant for one of the youths who failed to appear at court for yesterday's hearing.

The youth, Darrell Joseph Beachy of Cresaptown, later posted $200 bond for his appearance before Magistrate Dick on Saturday.

Trooper John H. Sweitzer said he was in his State Police cruiser on U. S. Route 220 in the vicinity of the Dingle Hill about 11 p. m. Monday when three cars went speeding past him.

The trooper said he gave pursuit into Cumberland and paced the speeding vehicles at better than 60 miles per hour along Greene Street.

The third car in the race, directly in front of the state trooper, wove through traffic, crashed a red light at the intersection of Greene and Lee streets, then crashed into a parked vehicle near Smallwood Street.

The trooper picked up Charles William Atkinson, Clarysville, at the scene of the accident and continued pursuit of the other two cars, catching both at the intersection of Williams Street and South Mechanic Street, he said.

There he arrested Beachy and the third boy Ronald Irvin Wolford of Cumberland.

Beachy and Wolford were charged with reckless driving and exceeding 25 miles per hour in the city limits. Atkinson faces the same charges plus failure to stop at a traffic light, the trooper added.

Magistrate Dick said testimony at yesterday's hearing revealed a fight had taken place at Cresaptown with Beachy and several companions reportedly chasing the Atkinson and Wolford youths as a result of the fracas. Another youth also was reported to have suffered a broken nose in the fight, Magistrate Dick said.

Marine League Elects Officers

Officers for the coming year for the Cumberland Detachment Marine Corps League were elected at a recent meeting.

The officers for 1958 include Richard Henry, commandant; George Powers, senior vice commandant; Donald Bucy Sr., adjutant-paymaster; Russell Bittner, chaplain; Captain Richard Moleky, judge advocate, and William McNiff, sergeant-at-arms.

The league also made plans at the meeting for its Christmas tree sale which will be held December 13-15 at Powers' Service Station on Henderson Avenue.

The meeting set for January 20 has been designated as Sixth Infantry Company night and will be held at the Purple Heart Center on Greene Street.

Commandant Henry said all Marines and former Marines are invited to attend the meetings, which are held the second and fourth Tuesdays of each month.

REV. E. L. MERROW

Will Conduct Advent Rites At Holy Cross

Rev. Edward Leith Merrow, rector of Grace Episcopal Church, Alexandria, Va., will conduct special Advent services at Holy Cross Episcopal Church, 16 Virginia Avenue, on Friday and Saturday of this week, according to Rev. William J. Cox, vicar.

The Litany will be sung at 7:30 p. m. Friday and Father Merrow will preach the sermon, which will be followed by hymn singing and prayers.

On Saturday, the Holy Eucharist will be celebrated at 8 a. m. Breakfast will be served in the Parish Hall by the Women's Guild and there will be four periods of meditation during the morning and afternoon.

Before beginning his ministry in Alexandria, Father Merrow played professional football, served as an Army officer and sang with the Metropolitan Opera Company. He also taught at the Virginia Theological Seminary. He is widely known as a leader of church retreats.

Bond Is Set In Check Case

William Tipton, 35, of Fort Carson, Colo., is being held on $1,000 bond on a charge of false pretense in the passing of several fraudulent checks.

Tipton was given a preliminary hearing yesterday before Magistrate J. Milton Dick and is being held in Allegany County Jail for action of the January grand jury.

County Investigator Edwin R. Lilla said Tipton faces four charges of false pretense and three counts of forgery.

'Witness' To Start Three-Day Run

Garrett Youth Arrested In Embezzlement

W. E. Goehringer
Gets Hearing Here

An 18-year-old Garrett County boy was arrested yesterday by the FBI and arraigned before U. S. Commissioner James Alfred Avirett in Cumberland on charges of embezzling $2,000 from a Pittsburgh bank.

William E. Goehringer was taken into custody at the home of his parents in Accident.

He waived a preliminary hearing yesterday before Commissioner Avirett and was released under $1,000 bond for his appearance before the Federal District Court of the Western District at Pittsburgh.

James E. Kelly, agent in charge of the FBI at Baltimore said young Goehringer, a June graduate of Northern High School at Accident, had taken a job as a teller in the Dollar Savings Bank in Pittsburgh last summer.

A shortage in a customer's account was discovered in October. Goehringer was picked up on a federal warrant charging him with embezzlement by an unauthorized withdrawal from the customer's account. The embezzlement reportedly took place on September 13 of this year.

Commissioner Avirett said Goehringer has given a full statement to the FBI of the theft and has agreed to return to Pittsburgh to stand trial, probably in January.

His bond stipulates he is to appear at the Pittsburgh federal court and no extradition waiver was required, the commissioner stated.

Traffic Halted On Bridge For Work On Track

Vehicular traffic will be halted across the temporary Baltimore Street bridge today and tomorrow while Western Maryland Railway Company crews complete work in connection with the Cumberland-Ridge flood control project.

The closing of the span to all but pedestrian traffic will add a new burden to the already-crowded conditions on North Centre and Mechanic streets.

Lt. Raymond R. Johnston of the Police Department's Traffic Bureau said the traffic lights at Market and Mechanic streets and Harrison and Centre will be turned off during the two-day period, and police officers will handle the flow of traffic.

Lt. Johnston pointed out that truck traffic on U.S. Route 220 has been diverted to the Market Street bridge since the temporary span was constructed at Baltimore Street. The normal flow of east-west traffic will be added to this route, he added.

Western Maryland spokesmen yesterday said most of the preliminary work for the laying of a temporary single-line track was completed yesterday, so that work on the project can begin at 8 a. m. today.

The gauntlet, or shunt line, will be laid across a temporary railroad bridge just above the present railway span, that will be demolished for a new one that meets the specifications laid down by the Army Corps of Engineers in connection with the flood control project.

The new structure will carry two track lines, Western Maryland officials said, adding that they will be continued across the approach of the traffic span now under construction.

Work on the laying of the temporary single line of track is expected to be completed well before Friday morning, rail company spokesmen said, but in the event unforeseen problems are met, the crews will continue working around the clock so that the span can be opened to vehicular traffic Friday.

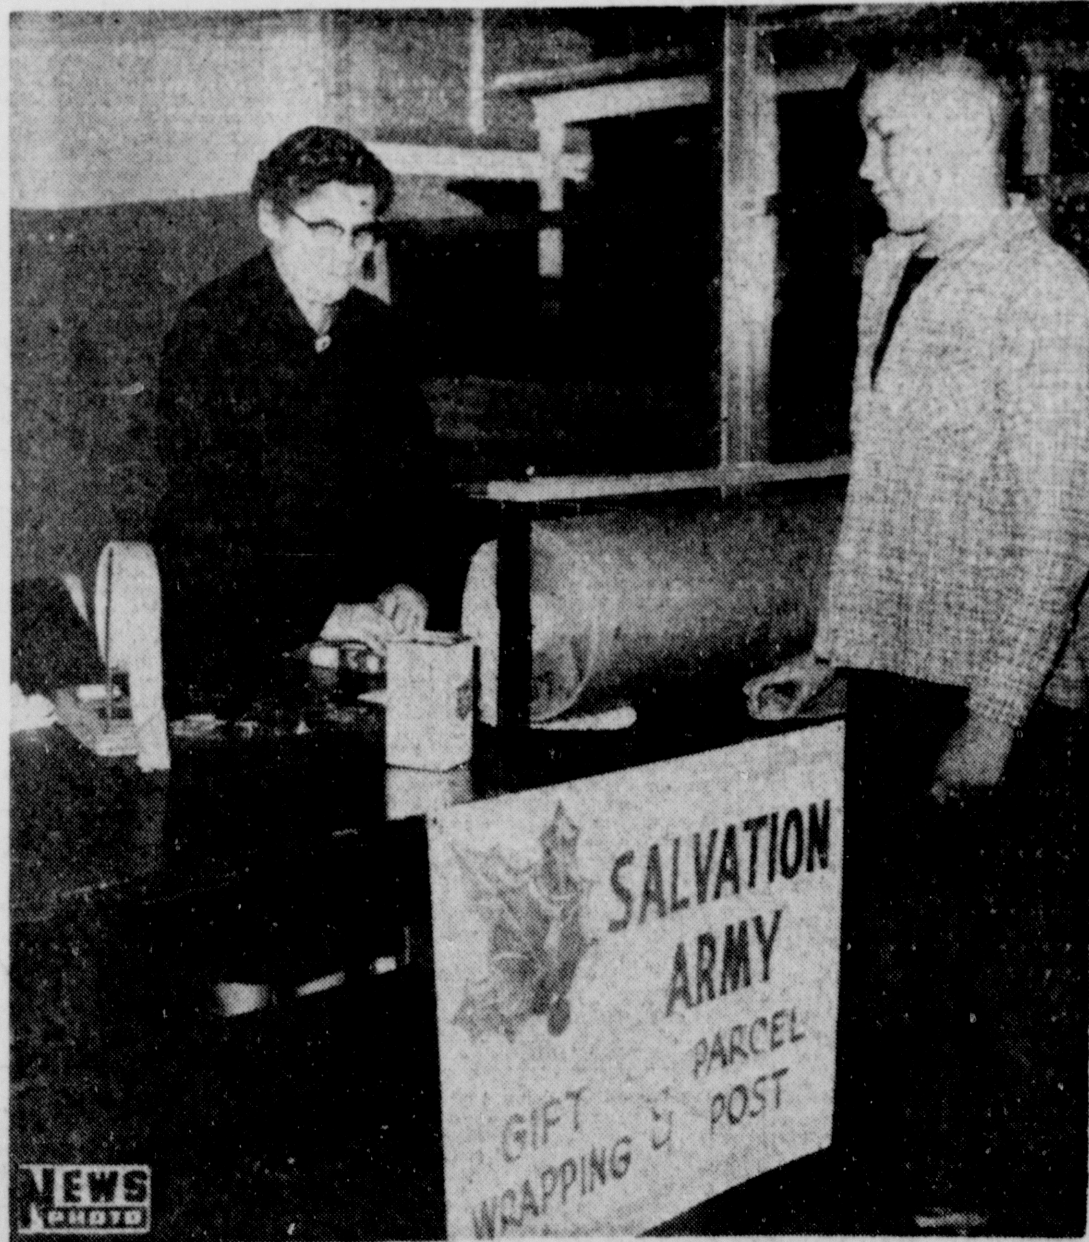

No additional traffic or parking regulations are anticipated during the two-day closing of the bridge, Lt. Johnston said.

Conservation Meeting Set

Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee office managers from seven Maryland counties will be joined by forestry personnel in an all-day conference today at Frederick.

Miss Elizabeth A. Hoover is manager of the local ASC office. Others from here scheduled to attend the Frederick conference include District Forester William H. Johnson, Assistant District Forester Harry Hartman of this county and Assistant District Forester Thomas Thayer of Garrett County.

Reforestation practices available under both the agricultural conservation program and the soil bank will be discussed. Allegany, Garrett, Washington, Frederick, Carroll, Montgomery and Howard counties will be represented.

Wrapping Booth Opens

Mrs. C. H. Wakeman, who opened the Salvation Army's Christmas wrapping booth at the Station A Post Office on Virginia Avenue yesterday, wraps a holiday parcel for Glendon Ralston, 427 Virginia Avenue. Several members of the Salvation Army Advisory Board have volunteered to help operate the wrapping service which is being offered in South Cumberland for the first time this year.
